

First Step Taken Toward Obtaining New City Charter

Councilman Ed Inman Chosen To Name Steering Committee for Council-Manager Government

PRESENT OFFICIALS ARE NOT CRITICIZED

Vote Almost Unanimous for Change in Form of Government, Referendum of League Shows.

Appointment of a nominating committee, which will submit names for an organization committee, will mark the first definite step toward obtaining a new charter for Atlanta and substituting the council-manager form of government for that now in effect here.

The action resulted Tuesday night at a mass meeting called by the Atlanta League of Women Voters, at which Councilman Ed H. Inman, who was elected temporary chairman, was instructed to name a nominating committee of five. The committee probably will be named either this week or early next week, he said.

Mass Meeting Planned. According to present plans, the "steering" committee will draft rules and by-laws to be submitted to the public at a mass meeting at the auditorium as soon as possible. The committee is to be composed of representatives of all parts of the city, and probably will include representatives of all civic organizations interested in obtaining a new charter.

Mrs. Sanford Gay, president of the League of Women Voters, stressed the importance of immediate action, explaining that under the present system laws passed recently, the legislature will not meet in 1926, and unless the charter is obtained this year, no action could be taken until 1927.

Officials Not Criticized. Officers of the league stated that their action is in no way to be interpreted as criticizing present city officials, but that the change is sought because it is thought the city would be benefited greatly by a complete change in the form of government.

More than 200 letters were sent to Atlantans in which their views on the new charter and the council-manager form were sought, and only three failed to receive themselves as strongly favoring the plan, members of the league reported. Even those three, it was stated, did not oppose the change.

No details of the new charter were discussed Tuesday night. They will not be taken up until after perfection of a permanent organization, which, according to plans, will remain in existence until a new charter has been obtained.

Hatton Rapped System. Dr. A. R. Hatton, of Cleveland, city charter expert, in a recent series of lectures here, rapped the present system of Atlanta's government, and declared either the council-manager or the commission-manager forms are more effective. He recited advantages and disadvantages of practically all forms of city government which have been tried and described the benefits to be derived by Atlanta from a council-manager form.

Several city officials and members of city council were among the 100 persons present at Tuesday's session.

LOVE FOR PRETTY CLOTHES BLAMED BY ERRING MISS

Responding to that ever-present desire for beautiful clothes prompted Miss Freddie Beasley, 10-year-old, to try her hand at bootlegging, she told the judge of the city criminal court here Tuesday.

"I was broke and wanted a new coat," she said. "A friend told me where I could get a load of whiskey, as I decided to try to sell it and buy the coat."

Officers gave a three-mile chase before they captured her automobile and five gallons of liquor. A fine of $50 was imposed.

NEWSPAPER WINS RIGHT TO PUBLISH PAYMENTS OF TAX

Second Victory for Press Is Scored When New York Paper Is Acquitted by Jury.

New York, December 9.—The second victory for the press in the three suits brought by the government to test the right of newspapers to publish income tax payments to that of the New York Herald-Tribune, which was acquitted by a jury in United States district court here upon the instruction of Federal Judge Knox.

The suit against the New York Tribune, Inc., publisher of the Herald-Tribune, is the only suit thus far to be tried by a jury, and in this instance, Judge Knox took the helm and advised the jury that under his interpretation of the statute, the only possible verdict was an acquittal of the defendant on the charge of unlawfully printing tax returns. The court added that it wanted the government to be in a position to appeal immediately to the United States supreme court.

Hayward Will Appeal. United States Attorney Hayward said he would appeal at once to the supreme court under the criminal appeals act—a course made possible because the facts were undisputed and the case involved only a question of law. The testimony itself required less than an hour, the government presenting two witnesses and the defense one.

The defense reserved one point, which was a claim that the publication of a citizen's name, address and paid tax was not a part of the tax returns.

BALTIMORE POST CASE IS UNDER ADJUDICATION. Baltimore, December 9.—The case of the Baltimore Post, the Scripps-Howard newspaper, which was the first to be indicted in the government's suits to test the rights of newspapers to publish income tax figures, is now being deliberated by Judge Morris A. Soper, of the federal district court. Judge Soper, who handed down the

'Holy' Bigamist And First Wife Start Life Anew

Willard W. Long Weds Second Wife on Orders From Heaven, He Said.

Louisville, December 9.—Willard W. Long, 45 years old, who three years ago attracted wide attention when he proclaimed that "the spirit of God" caused him to wed a second time and take his bride to the home of his first wife in New Albany, Ind., is reported back home today after serving two years in the Indiana penitentiary on a bigamy charge.

Long and Mrs. Long No. 1 are going away to begin life anew, she said, without revealing their destination. Clara Lee Long, 19, their daughter, is with them. The second wife is now Miss Margaret McFall, 22, of Louisville.

At the time of the second marriage on November 16, 1921, Long said the spirit of his first wife, speaking through his second wife, sanctioned the second union. His first wife's spirit left her twenty days prior to the second marriage, he said. Long and the two women lived in the Long home until the situation was discovered by a local newspaper.

Sum of $10,000 Volunteer-Ed When Chapel Exercises Are Held in Methodist Church.

Plans for rebuilding the administration building of the Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville, which was destroyed by fire early Monday, will be outlined Thursday morning at a meeting of trustees of the institution at the Piedmont hotel. More than $10,000 has been subscribed voluntarily by interested Georgians, although not one penny has been asked, officials stated Tuesday.

According to reports from Milledgeville Tuesday Dr. M. M. Parks, president will explain to trustees that the needs of the school require two buildings, one to be used as an auditorium and the other as a class room. The attitude and general plans of trustees, however, has not been made known and nothing definite is expected before the matter is thoroughly gone over in the meeting here Thursday.

The building, which was destroyed Monday was valued at $75,000, with only $13,000 insurance. The Baldwin county court house and the Milledgeville Methodist church are being used as temporary class rooms pending rebuilding plans. "Not a class has been missed, despite the loss of the building," Dr. Parks stated Tuesday. "We are badly inconvenienced, of course, but we are doing the best we can and the young women students are being cared for in improvised class rooms until we can rebuild."

Leading Milledgeville citizens voluntarily have subscribed large amounts to a rebuilding fund, according to reports reaching Atlanta. Soon after the fire, Dr. Parks stated that the fund would give $1,000 to the rebuilding fund and more than a dozen citizens, including Miller S. Bell, E. E. Bell, R. H. Wooten, L. S. Fowler and others, pledged similar amounts. Trustees who are expected to attend the meeting here Thursday are: Richard B. Russell, chairman; Winder, Miller S. Bell and Dr. E. A. Tigner, Milledgeville; E. B. Barrett, Gainesville; T. E. Atkinson, Newnan; John R. Hutcheson, Jonesboro; John W. Bennett, Waycross; Bowdrie Phinizy, Augusta; Dudley M. Hughes, Danville; and Dr. M. M. Parks, State Superintendent of Schools N. H. Ballard is ex-officio member.

REPORT OF PARDON FOR FOX DENIED

Governor Emphatically States That Clemency Has Not Been Extended to W. S. Coburn's Slayer.

Rumors to the effect that he is planning to pardon Philip E. Fox, Ku Klux Klan publicity chief and convicted slayer of Captain William S. Coburn, Tuesday were emphatically denied by Governor Clifford W. Walker.

"The idea is preposterous," the governor stated Tuesday when shown a telegram from Macon telling of reports of an impending pardon for Fox current there.

"I now have no intention of ever considering a pardon for Fox, who has served only a short time after committing a most heinous crime," he added.

TICK QUARANTINE LIFTED IN LAST 4 GEORGIA COUNTIES

Five States Are Now Free, According to Report Just Made by Federal Experts.

Georgia is now entirely free of quarantine restrictions on account of the cattle tick, according to a report of Dr. A. R. Ramsey, in charge of tick eradication for the Bureau of Animal Industry, of the United States Department of Agriculture, just received in Atlanta. The order releasing the last Georgia counties from tick quarantine went into effect Tuesday.

Addition of Georgia makes five states which are now free from tick infestation, the report stated; the other four being Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri and California.

Praise Given Bahnsen. In commenting on the final release of Georgia from the federal tick quarantine, Dr. Ramsey says:

"Unflinching support was given this work by Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, Georgia veterinarian, who has directed the state work throughout the campaign. In Georgia the cooperating forces, state, county and federal, worked almost as a unit. To this cooperation and the plan which was adhered to throughout, of working from north to south and only taking up new work each year in such areas as properly could be handled, are attributed the final satisfactory results."

General changes made by this month's recent order, the report continues, "are to release from federal quarantine four counties in Georgia, one county in Florida, four counties and two parts of counties in North Carolina, one county in Oklahoma and eight counties and two parts of counties in Texas. The order repudiates one county in Alabama, two parishes in Louisiana and six counties in Texas."

As a result of the new order, effective Tuesday, only relatively small areas remain quarantined in Alabama.

U.S. To Take Part In Two Projects Begun by League

Will Participate in Codification of International Law and in Arms Parley.

Washington, December 9.—This government had just announced its intention of participating in two important undertakings of the League of Nations.

1. The league plan to appoint a commission of 15 jurists to codify international law.

2. The United States has accepted an invitation from the league to attend the international conference in Geneva next spring to consider restriction of international trade in arms and munitions.

American participation on the codification of international law is with the understanding that no commitments regarding the League of Nations covenant shall be made by this government. As to suppression of traffic in arms, this government has long favored that step, but refrained from participating in the St. Germain conference because it aimed at control of production, which the United States, under the constitution, cannot regulate.

EDUCATION BOARD APPROVES PARLEY ON SCHOOL MERGER

Conference on Consolidation of City and County Schools Probably Held Next Week.

COLLEGE PARK WOMEN INDORSE PROPOSAL

Individual Problems of Communities To Be Threshed Out Before General Conference.

A meeting of school authorities of Atlanta, College Park, East Point and Fulton and DeKalb counties to consider the proposed merger of city and county schools systems probably will be held next week as the Atlanta board of education Tuesday voted to invite those officials, in addition to all other persons interested in the consolidation, to the conference.

The exact date will be set later by a special committee of the board, composed of H. J. Penn, Mrs. Z. B. Peterson and John T. Hancock, which was appointed several months ago to investigate all details of the proposition, and which recommended that the joint meeting be called.

It is expected that citizens and school officials of Fulton county, East Point and College Park will hold meetings prior to the general gathering to thresh out individual problems which would arise under the proposed merger.

League Indorses Consolidation. The College Park League of Women Voters Tuesday went on record as "heartily indorsing" the consolidation and promising active cooperation. A mass meeting of College Park citizens probably will be called this week to consider the proposal.

The Atlanta Federation of Trades also favors the merger, and copies of recently adopted resolutions, which were read at the board of education meeting Tuesday, stated that the federation has reaffirmed its position in backing the merger, and has urged Fulton county's representatives in the legislature to push whatever legislation is necessary in order to create the proposed metropolitan district.

The report of the board of education's special committee stated that "the merger is a live issue and offers a seemingly possible solution to Atlanta's school problems, while at the same time it would benefit other affected systems by providing a uniform system of education." The resolution inviting representatives of interested

BED ROOM FARCE FEATURES TRIAL

Forbes Was Called From Crap Game With Mrs. Mortimer to Receive Bribe, Is Claim.

Chicago, December 9.—Elias H. Mortimer, the sardonic "star" witness for the government in its effort to establish Colonel Charles R. Forbes in a prison cell, has added a funny little bed-room comedy to his long list of glittering stories of craft and corruption in the United States Veterans' bureau during the Forbes regime.

Mortimer, who has prefaced his testimony with a string of admissions about his own cork-screw career, placing the emphasis on the bribes he declared he carried from contractors to his chief, touched up one of these charges during his cross-examination Tuesday with a droll bedroom farce.

Mortimer began with a charge that James W. Thompson, the contractor who is being tried jointly with Forbes for conspiracy, had given him—Mortimer—$15,000 in cash in a Chicago hotel sometime in June, 1922.

Fixes Eyes on Forbes. "I gave Mr. Thompson a note for $15,000 sometime in June," said Mortimer. "I believe it was June 20."

"Where?" asked Colonel James S. Easley-Smith, counsel for Forbes.

"At his office," Mortimer replied. "I came back after lunch and Thompson and I went over to our room at the hotel."

"Was anyone there when you got there?"

Mortimer's eyes kindled with a strange light. He hesitated, took a long deep breath and fixed his eyes upon the figure of Forbes, slouched in a chair behind his attorney. He said, sharply:

"Yes, we found Colonel Forbes and Mrs. Mortimer in the bed room. They were shooting craps."

Shooting Craps on Bed. "On the bed—Forbes was in his shirt sleeves. That game cost me $224."

"Ah, then Forbes won, did he not?"

Lloyd George Hits Franco-U.S. Parley On Funding Debt

WALKER'S STAND ON W. & A. OFFER PUT UNDER FIRE

Prominent Georgia Officials Are of Opinion Governor Exceeded Power in Refusing Proposal.

Following announcement Tuesday by Governor Walker that he would not accept the offer of C. E. James, of Chattanooga, of $3,000,000 for purchase of the Georgia owned railroad property in that city, several prominent Georgia officials declared that in their opinion, the governor had exceeded his authority.

It was their opinion that such an offer was rightfully a matter for the legislative body to decide. They held that while the governor had authority to call the legislative body in special session to consider the offer if he desired to do so, he did not have the power to definitely reject the proposal on his own responsibility alone.

The governor could have written Mr. James, it was pointed out, stating that he did not consider it necessary or advisable to call a special session, holding up final decision in the matter to the legislature when it meets next July.

Governor's Statement. Governor Walker, in his statement concerning the James offer, issued Tuesday, said: "While as a matter of course I have given the letters of Mr. James courteous attention, I have not for a moment considered selling any portion of the state's railroad terminals in Chattanooga and I will not do so."

"The terminals are the vitals of railroad life and authorities in charge of such properties cannot be too careful in preserving terminal facilities. I will be glad to cooperate with the city of Chattanooga in adjusting any of its traffic congestion problems, but decline to consider the sale of Georgia's property. In this connection it is well enough to remind our people and the people of Chattanooga that the state of Georgia years ago granted valuable concessions to Chattanooga and that in consideration of these grants the city obligated itself legally and morally to see that the rights of the state of Georgia were perpetually preserved. We will expect the spirit of that agreement to be carried out in the present and future negotiations."

Offer Made by James. The offer made by Mr. James was for a piece of property fronting approximately 1,000 feet on Market street and between 400 and 500 feet on Ninth street in Chattanooga, now owned by the N. C. & St. L., as part of the property of the W. & A. railroad, owned by Georgia. He bid $3,000,000 for the property, payable in installments over a period of 10 years.

There is no pending litigation at present between the state of Georgia and the city of Chattanooga, recent litigation resulting from an effort by the city to condemn part of the property for right-of-way for an extension of Broad street, being ended in favor of Georgia.

Atlanta Slated For icy Weather, Says Forecaster

Temperature Is Expected to Drop to Freezing Point or Lower Today.

Atlanta, in all probability, will awake this morning in the throes of a cold spell that will carry the thermometer down to the freezing point or lower, according to prediction made Tuesday afternoon by C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local office of the U. S. weather bureau. There is a possibility, however, that the severity may be tempered as the result of an area of low pressure which is advancing in this direction from southwestern Texas.

No rain is in sight for Wednesday. The thermometer took a decided drop on Tuesday, the high mark for the day being but a little over 50 degrees, after it had registered 70 as high for Monday. The coldest reading Tuesday was 44 degrees early in the morning. The advance during the day was slow, covering a range of less than 10 degrees.

Total rainfall during Monday, the heaviest in several months, was 1.86 inches.

TWO TRAIN WRECKS DUE TO TAMPERING WITH THE SWITCH

Richmond, Va., December 9.—The wrecking of two Chesapeake and Ohio freight trains at Westham on December 1, which cost the lives of two railroad employees and injury to three others, was caused by a switch being tampered with, a coroner's jury reported today.

Railroad and county and city detectives are investigating the wreck and the Chesapeake and Ohio has offered $2,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the person who tampered with the switch.

Liberal Leader Demands Action by Britain To Collect War Debts on Her Own Account.

M'DONALD SCORES STEEL FIST POLICY

Former Labor Premier Indicates Early Pressure for New Probe of Zinoviev Letter.

BY CHARLES M. McCANN. London, December 9.—David Lloyd-George, leader of the lost legion of liberalism in the house of commons, has begun a bitter offensive against Premier Stanley Baldwin's conservative government in an effort to force the British government either to block the proposed Franco-American debt settlement or to obtain a slice of the golden pie for England.

When Parliament opened Tuesday, Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the socialists, and Lloyd-George, sallied forth to the attack on the conservative statement of policy like a couple of Quixotes in a forest of American steel windmills. They shattered their lances against the enemy as soon as the house convened after the reading of the speech from the throne by King George in the house of lords. The speech was the work of Baldwin's cabinet and roughly outlined Baldwin's plans and intentions for the next three or four years.

Malice Debts His Issue. With his customary insight, Lloyd-George chose to emphasize the problem which can best be understood by the average man and woman—debts and taxation.

From his corner seat below the gangway, Lloyd-George launched the fight of the liberals to regain their lost prestige.

"Debt negotiations are progressing at this moment in Washington between the United States and France, and I'm not sure but with Italy as well," Lloyd-George shouted across the house at Baldwin—the man who arranged the stiff terms whereby England is paying her debt to the United States.

"Are we represented?" he demanded. "It is very unsatisfactory to ask our friends to pay their debts, but the United States did not hesitate to ask us at a moment when we had 2,000,000 men and women unemployed, but we are required to pay up."

Wants Action on Collection. "We British are the heaviest taxed people in the world and we are entitled to know whether we are to continue to pay the United States at the present rate," Lloyd-George continued. "We are paying $150,000,000 yearly to the United States and $500,000,000 to British bondholders for money borrowed in behalf of France. France and our other allies are making no effort to meet their obligation to us."

"Does the government purpose to act?" the speaker again queried Baldwin.

To Debate Question Soon. Premier Baldwin has promised the house an opportunity to debate the matter of inter-allied debts and the British attitude toward the present Franco-American negotiations.

Replying to Lloyd-George's attack, the premier admitted the necessity of

Power Magnate Never Realized Cent Personally From Fortune He Gave to Charity, Education

Change of Trinity University's Name to Duke University to Get Huge Bequest Is Certain.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Charlotte, N. C., December 9.—James B. Duke, multi-millionaire power magnate, who last night announced creation of the Duke trust fund of approximately $46,000,000 for educational and charitable purposes in North and South Carolina, never personally realized a cent from his vast investment in the Southern Power system, according to statements credited to Mr. Duke here today. Every cent of profit made from his investment of around $60,000,000 has been returned to the system for development purposes, he is quoted as saying.

Mr. Duke included in the trust three-fourths of his holdings in the Southern Power system. The income of the trust is to be divided between Trinity college, which must change its name to Duke university to obtain the funds; Davidson college, Furman university and Johnston C. Smith university, the latter a negro school; hospitals in North and South Carolina and for building and maintenance of churches of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in rural districts, and pensioning aged ministers of that church.

Never Made Any Money.
"I have never made any money for myself out of the $60,000,000 which I have put into the power company interests," Mr. Duke told newspapermen in making the preliminary announcement of his intention to form the trust. "I have never drawn a cent of salary. I have never even charged traveling expenses to the company, when I came down here and returned to New York. What the company has made has gone right back into it, multiplying the capital with which to do bigger things, and that is the way it is going to be run in the future, when I have given it over to this endowment fund."

"The power development will not stop. It is going on. We have not reached the end yet. The trustees of this fund will determine when the program of development of water courses shall be finished."

Mr. Duke founded and developed the American Tobacco company and for years was the head of that concern and an officer of the British-American Tobacco company. He retired from the American in 1911.

How He Became Interested.

Some years ago, the late Dr. Gil Wylie of New York, but at that time living in South Carolina, was called to entertain the tobacco magnate. Dr. Wylie was interested in a small electric power plant on the Catawba river in South Carolina, which William S. Lee, a brilliant young engineer, had built. The physician interested Mr. Duke in Mr. Lee and his power project. Through this came about a connection that blossomed into the Southern Power System, with huge hydro-electric plants from the head of the Catawba river in the North Carolina mountains far down that stream into South Carolina. Mr. Lee became Mr. Duke's right-hand man and is now chief engineer and vice president of the Southern Power company and in charge of the Duke hydro-electric interests in Canada.

Mr. Duke although immensely wealthy, never took an active part in politics. His interests have been in education, the church and business. Trinity college, which is to be the chief beneficiary under the trust fund, formerly was located at the village of Trinity near High Point, N. C. Twenty-five or more years ago, it was moved to Durham and has since been greatly expanded under the administration of the late Bishop John C. Kilgo, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who for years was its president, and the present president, Dr. W. P. Few. Mr. Duke and his brother, R. N. Duke, of New York, have been contributors to the development and endowment of Trinity.

Change of Name Certain.

That the board of trustees of Trinity will change its name to Duke university, that it may receive the sum of $60,000,000 to be paid out of the trust fund for erection of a university, is regarded as virtually certain. President Few was quoted in dispatches from Durham today as saying that he regarded the compliance with the terms of the trust as certain and Joseph G. Brown, of Raleigh, president of the board of trustees of Trinity, was quoted as saying that he would be called together as soon as officially advised of the creation of the trust.

Inquiries today as to whether or not the $60,000,000 for the creation of a great university in North Carolina was a gift separate from the trust fund brought the information that this sum is to be expended from the trust fund. The trustees are "empowered and directed, according to the official announcement, to expend not in excess of $60,000,000 for this purpose."

Announcement Premature.

Announcement of the trust came prematurely last night after the news had become known through some undetermined source. It had been planned to call representatives of the beneficiaries together today to tell them of Mr. Duke's plan and most of them first learned of it through the newspapers. It had been planned to make it public tomorrow.

Among the callers at Mr. Duke's residence today were Dr. you, or is someone in your family, W. J. Martin, president of Davidson college, and Dr. H. L. McCrory, of Johnston C. Smith university. Dr. Martin, who is just recovering from a serious illness, said that he had been asked to call on Mr. Duke today, but climate, at a moderate altitude, that El without an inkling of what was to come. The announcement "knocked me out of a cocked hat," he said.

BAPTIST MINISTER RAPS DUKE OFFER.

Raleigh, N. C., December 9.—"If the offer of the money for the university that James B. Duke will give Savannah Prescription," endorsed by the El Trinity college a large share of $40,000,000 if it will change its name to 'Duke university,' is accepted, it will hang crepe on the door of North Carolina Methodism," declared the Rev. J. R. Bateman, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Asheville, N. C., in delivering the keynote address of the North Carolina Baptist convention. "I do not know who wrote this article," declared the preacher, as he held up a copy of a paper containing the announcement of the Duke fund, "and I do not know personally the man who is making the offer, but there is not a word of Jesus Christ in a single line of it."

Dr. Bateman added facetiously that since Mr. Duke is giving away money derived from water-power investments, he should give it to the Baptists.

MISSING U. S. SAILORS ARE BELIEVED A. W. O. L.

San Pedro, Cal., December 9.—While battle fleet officials refused to issue a statement concerning sixteen men missing from the fleet until every man on the fleet roster was checked, opinion was expressed today that these men merely overstayed their leave and that they were not included in the toll of the explosion and sinking of the water taxi La Moyne early Monday.

An announcement was made from the flagship California that this check was going ahead but would not be complete for several hours. Instructions have been issued to bring aboard the ships every man that is on shore leave so that the rosters may be completed.

WRIGHT FUNERAL SET FOR TODAY

Funeral services for Professor Homer Wright, 74, well-known educator and beloved Georgian, who died early Tuesday morning at his home at Decatur, will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning from the Decatur Methodist church. Rev. G. M. Eakes, pastor, assisted by Dr. Andrew M. Sledd, of Emory university, will officiate. Interment will be at West View.

Mr. Wright was born and reared in Jefferson, Ga., the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Arminius Wright. His father was at one time pastor of the First Methodist church of Atlanta.

Mr. Wright was graduated from Emory university with the degrees of bachelor of arts and master of arts in 1872. He served as superintendent of schools in Columbus, Griffin, Dawson, Quitman and Buford during his service of more than 52 years.

Professor Wright had been a member of the Decatur High school faculty as head of the mathematics department for the past eight years and had endeavored himself to students and faculty with his slogan of "Carry sunshine and keep sweet."

He was considered an authority on mathematics and physics, and as early as 1889 installed and operated successfully a telephone from his home in Quitman to the Quitman school, of which he was superintendent. The telephone was then in its experimental stage.

He is survived by his widow; three sons, Paul Wright, of Birmingham, Ala.; Justin Wright and Homer Wright, Jr., of Medford, Wis.; three sisters, Mrs. Charles W. Smith and Mrs. W. B. Bonnell, both of Atlanta; and a brother, Arminius Wright, well-known member of the Atlanta bar.

TOKIO MINISTER BRINGS GREETINGS OF JAP CHILDREN

All the way from Tokio, Japan, came Rev. K. Tsumashima to the quadrennial meeting of the Federal Churches of Christ in America, which terminated a week's session in Atlanta Tuesday. He presented to the convention, and to the people of America, a testimonial of thanks from the children of Japan for the interest and financial assistance shown in their behalf. Religious ties between Japan and America, he said, "could not be more friendly."

More over, the minister declared, Japan and America are daily growing closer together in "business, love, friendship and generalities."

"The ties which bind America and Japan are indissoluble," he averred, "I have great hopes for the future."

Pi Kappa Phi's of Georgia To Observe Founders' Day

L. O. Moseley, of Atlanta, one of the most active Pi Kappa Phi's in Georgia, will be master of ceremonies at the founders' day celebration of Georgia chapters of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity at a banquet tonight at the Georgian Terrace. The fraternity is 20 years old.

The 36 active chapters in all sections of the United States will observe founders' day and will hear radio addresses by L. Harry Mixson and Simond Fogarty, two charter members, who will speak from Charleston. The messages will be received here.

Cecil Lemon, former captain of football and baseball teams at Oglethorpe, is president of the Atlanta alumni chapter. Active members from Emory, Georgia Tech, Georgia, Mercer and Oglethorpe will attend the Atlanta banquet.

Prominent guests, who will be presented at the dinner will be George Schietz, of Charleston, executive secretary of the fraternity, and Professor Joe A. McLain, of the Mercer faculty, who also is district inspector. Other leading members also will deliver short addresses.

The Pi Kappa Phi fraternity was established at the College of Charleston in 1904. The second chapter was founded at Presbyterian college, Clinton, S. C., and the third at the University of California. There are 36 active chapters in the United States.

COTTON FROM MEXICO ADMITTED DECEMBER 15

Washington, December 9.—Regulations governing entry into this country of foreign cotton, designed to combat spread of the pink boll worm, have been amended by the department of agriculture to permit entry of Mexican cotton at certain border points under adequate safeguards. The arrangement is to be effective December 15.

Hitherto Mexican cotton, except that produced in Lower California, has been denied entry unless shipped by water to northern points for distribution. The new ruling will permit entry of cotton grown on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande adjoining American areas in which the pink bollworm already is established.

Entry of the cotton will be under permit and bond and it will be disinfectant at El Paso.

Direct entry from the lower regions of the Rio Grande into adjoining American territory not affected will not be permitted.

The department believes the arrangements will decrease the danger of weevil infection by lessening the risk of cotton smuggling.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT REHEARSALS ARE HELD

Almost daily rehearsals for the annual community Christmas pageant are under way under direction of re-spective group leaders. Mrs. Earl Sherwood Jackson, director general, announced Tuesday. Predictions of the most attractive and artistic presentation of the pageant, "Light of the World," are made by those in charge.

Garland bearers, Oriental dancers and the rainbow group will meet at 2:30 o'clock Thursday at the Kimball house for rehearsal. The Pilgrim group will rehearse at 2:30 o'clock Friday. At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the Pilgrim group and garland bearers will rehearse at the Kimball house and in the afternoon at 1 o'clock candlebearers will have a special rehearsal.

The big gathering comes Sunday at the auditorium. All those in the pageant, with the exception of the carolers, under Mrs. John M. Cooper, and the chorus, under Miss Helen Knox Spain, are expected to be present.

BRITON IS HANGED DESPITE APPEALS

Hull, England, December 9.—(By Associated Press.)—William G. Smith, the young painter whose condemnation to death for the murder of a woman last August, aroused intensive appeals for clemency, was hanged at 9 o'clock this morning.

The woman slain was Mrs. Elizabeth Bousfield. In a last desperate effort to save Smith's life, a number of local notables, including the mayor's wife, this morning telegraphed an appeal to King George asking him to exercise his royal prerogative and spare the condemned man's life, but the appeal was unavailing.

The "royal prerogative" in such cases exists nowadays in theory only, as the king can only refer such things to his ministers.

Before the appeal to the king every effort had been made to obtain a reprieve from the home secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, but a deputation, headed by Commander Kenworthy, M. P., and including six other commoners, was forced to report failure.

The populace was greatly stirred over the case and filled the churches for hours while special prayers were said for the condemned man. A meeting of 10,000 persons yesterday threatened a general strike if their reprieve petition was not obtained, and Commander Kenworthy announced that he feared violence would follow the execution.

One of the arguments presented was that Smith had not been shown impartiality, as another man, proven guilty of murdering his wife at the same time, was condemned, was sentenced to only 10 years imprisonment.

Jackson's Chance For Trade Post Seen as Booming

Washington, December 9.—(Special.)—With the announcement from the white house Tuesday that President Coolidge may not submit the name of David J. Lewis, of Maryland, for reappointment to the federal trade commission, attention here centers in a possible successor, for which place L. B. Jackson, director of the state bureau of markets of Georgia, has been recommended by Senator George.

Jackson's name was presented to Coolidge several days ago by the Georgia senator.

Lewis was given a recess appointment during the summer as he had been working on the sugar duty report. He has been a supporter of the faction in the commission headed by Vice Chairman Culbertson, whose ideas frequently have clashed with those of the administration. Culbertson's group, in the recent report on the sugar tariff, urged half a cent a pound reduction. A minority report submitted by Chairman Marvin recommended that no change be made. Culbertson has had the support of Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin.

Nine Women and Three Men Compose Jury That Will Try 'Kid' McCoy on Murder Charge

Presence of Three 'Death' Jurors Seems Not to Disturb Ex-Pugilist, Confident of His Acquittal.

BY H. O. THOMPSON.

Los Angeles, December 9.—Nine women and three men have been sworn in as jurors in the trial of "Kid" McCoy, who is charged with the murder of his last sweetheart, Mrs. Theresa Mors.

When final selections were completed late Tuesday, both prosecution and defense declared themselves satisfied with the choice. There are two unmarried women on the jury. One of them, Miss Theresa Wilhelm, is under 30 and was favored by McCoy because of her first name. The other, Miss Grace Kimpel, is well advanced in years. The men in the group are retired business men. The average age of the panel was placed by defense counsel at 41. Three jurors, two men and one woman, served in the trial of Harry Garbutt, who recently was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to hang.

McCoy Not Disturbed.

The presence of the "death jurors" seemed not to disturb McCoy. The former prize ring hero and man of many marriages and love affairs grinned nervously when the swearing-in process was conducted, and said: "It's all the same to me. I can convince them that I didn't kill 'Tress.' There's no jury in the world that would convict me." After selection of two alternate jurors, a man and a woman, Deputy District Attorney Dennison gave the prosecution's opening statement. He told how McCoy and Mrs. Mors had been living together under the name of "Shields," how Mrs. Mors had with her valuable jewelry which Mc-Coy took into his own possession, and of the finding of the woman's body on the morning of August 13. "It was a sordid murder," Dennison declared. "It was committed without any trace of romance. It was an ex-fighter without any occupation who slew in cold blood the woman who had defended him."

Flashes Jeristic Smile.

When Dennison finished, McCoy, sitting with his lawyers, flashed a derisive smile. It was a fighter's play to the stands after an opponent's blow had stung him.

Albert A. Mors, husband of McCoy's "Tress," will face the man on trial Wednesday. That the situation may broaden into the sensational was indicated by the District Attorney's announcement that detectives would guard Mors when he entered the court room. Whether this action is to prevent McCoy from harming Mors, as he has often threatened to do during his prison days, or whether it is to keep Mors from any show of violence toward the prisoner, was not stated.

"Mors is of an extremely nervous nature," Deputy District Attorney Fricke said. "His nerves may be upset by this sudden encounter with the man he believes stole his wife from him and then killed her."

Is 'Kid' McCoy Insane? Look At Late Photos and Wonder

NEW YORK WILL HAVE 88-STORY BUILDING

New York, December 9.—New York is to have an 88-story office building, outranking in height the Woolworth building, which has 51 stories, according to information obtainable in real estate circles. A test to determine when the Woolworth tower sways in winds of high velocity is said to have been planned in contemplation of the new skyscraper's construction.

At the offices of Case Gilbert, architect, it was admitted that the project was under consideration, although details are being withheld because negotiations for the site have not been closed.

The new mammoth structure will occupy an entire block in downtown Broadway, it is said.

Funeral Held for Mrs. Watt.

Griffin, Ga., December 8.—(Special.)—Funeral services for Mrs. Mattie Neely Watt were held at St. George's Episcopal church Sunday, with the Rev. Hendree Harrison of Pensacola, Fla., mother-in-law of the deceased, officiating.

TURKISH PRIDE BRINGS TROUBLE TO TRAVELERS

Bucharest, Rumania, December 9. Turkish nationalists have gone to extreme measures, according to information current in this city, in their endeavors to bar all foreign languages out of the country. In preparing new passports for the Angora government Turkish officials insist that not a word of any foreign language be used, and print all the documents in Turkish script.

When the bearers of these passports tried to leave Turkish territory, their troubles began. No official could read the Turkish script; they could not tell whether the paper was a legitimate passport or a bill for groceries, and the bearers were refused permission to cross the border.

TWO NEGROES KILLED

BY BOILER EXPLOSION

Folkston, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—The boiler at the Homeland sawmill blew up this morning and killed two negroes, Joe Taylor, fireman, and Pete Siers, discoverer. The boiler was so badly scalded and hurt that he has little chance to recover. A sudden intake of cold water caused the explosion, which threw the boiler 300 feet.

RAILROAD MERGER BILL INTRODUCED

Washington, December 9.—A railroad consolidation bill was introduced today by Chairman Winslow, of the house commerce committee.

The bill would declare it the policy of congress to authorize and bring about the unification of the country's railroads in a number of strong and efficient systems. These would be as far as practicable maintain existing routes and preserve competition. The properties of the carriers in each system would ultimately be managed and operated and owned or controlled by a single corporation.

Chairman Winslow said the bill is based solely upon the policy of authorizing voluntary consolidation. Under its provisions if at the end of five years unification had not been effected, the interstate commerce commission would report to congress its suggestion for compulsory consolidation.

The properties of consolidated carriers, under terms of the bill, might be unified under the management, operation and ownership or control of a single corporation.

Upon filing of a petition for voluntary consolidation, the commission would give notice to the governor of

URGES SALE TO STATES OF ROAD MACHINERY

Washington, December 9.—The senate committee on postoffice and post roads went on record today as favoring the sale to states at a low price of surplus road-making machinery in possession of governmental departments which was left over from the war.

Senator Dial, democrat, South Carolina, a member of the committee, brought the subject before the committee and declared this material could be used to advantage for the improvement of highways throughout the country.

Huhn Trial Postponed.

Tampa, December 9.—Indefinite postponement of the second trial of "Big Paul" Huhn for the $24,000 Hav-A-Tampa cigar factory robbery last March was allowed this morning at the request of the state on account of its failure to secure witnesses.

each state in which any part of the lines of the carrier are located and hold public hearings. If the commission found that the public interests would be served by the proposed plan and the policy of congress promoted, the bill would authorize the commission to issue an order approving the plan, upon such terms and condition as it might impose.

Chairman Winslow said the measure was in general accord with suggestions transmitted to congress by President Coolidge.

WESTERN LEAGUE MEETS OPPOSITION

Mexico City, December 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Opposition by the Nicaraguan delegation has thrown into the committee on resolutions for further study a motion providing that the Pan-American Labor congress shall petition the governments of the western hemisphere to organize a Pan-American League of Nations for the purpose of preventing international conflicts.

The Nicaraguan delegates declared formation of such a body at the present time would encompass the membership of governments which were not elected by popular vote and which either pay no attention to or oppress organized labor. They believed that the congress should discriminate against dictatorial governments and take no measures which would permit them to have a voice in such an international league.

A resolution moved by the American Federation of Labor delegates and adopted provides that the congress shall request the governments of the hemisphere to appoint a labor representative in every consulate. The formation of a mixed commission for the purpose of visiting and unionizing labor in all the Latin-

Big Redwood Will Honor T. E. Watson

Proposal to honor the late Senator Thomas E. Watson, by planting a giant redwood tree in some park in the state, was made Tuesday by Dr. M. M. Yats, of Santa Barbara, Cal. In a letter received by Mayor Walter Sims, Dr. Yats, who was an intimate friend of Senator Watson, inquired as to the location of a state park, and offered to send a sequoia sempervirens, or one of the giant redwood trees for which California is celebrated, to be planted in such a park.

As Georgia has no state park, Mayor Sims will ask Dr. Yats to ship the tree, and will suggest several sites on which it might be planted. American republics was approved, the Mexico regional federation promising to bear the expense if the necessary funds could not be raised by the labor organizations represented in the congress. Finally the congress ordered an investigation of labor conditions in the Dominican republic where, according to the Dominican delegates, they are worse than under the United States military occupation with the prisons crowded with laborers.

Land Offices Are Retained In Interior Supply Bill

Measure Goes to Senate, Carrying Total of $238,
000,000 as First Appropriation Measure.

Washington, December 9.—The interior department appropriation bill, first of the annual supply measures, was passed today by the house.

The measure, carrying a total of $238,000,000, was sent to the senate minus an original provision calling for abolition next July 1, of 39 land offices.

A last-minute effort was made to restore this section, previously eliminated on an amendment by Representative Sinnott, republican, Oregon, but it was kept out of the bill by a vote of 185 to 102.

Pleading for government economy, Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, in charge of the bill, demanded a second vote on the Sinnott amendment, but a coalition of western republicans and southern democrats in favor of keeping the land offices in operation proved too formidable. The bill as passed provides, however, for abolition of the office of surveyor general and the consolidation of his work with the field surveying service, and for the consolidation of the offices of register and receiver, effective next July 1, at 45 land offices.

Slayer Given Life Term.

St. Joseph, Mich., December 9.—Emil Zupke, 24-year-old slayer of Cora May Raber, his discarded sweetheart, was sentenced today to life in prison. Zupke, who waived all trial rights and confessed the crime, was on the stand two hours telling how he choked the girl to death on the night of August 6.

Double Tragedy Of Consul's Love Is Under Probe

Washington, December 9.—With preparations under way in Belgrade for removal of the body of Harry A. Dayton, United States vice consul, to Auburn, N. Y., for burial, special investigators of two governments were busy trying to unravel the love entanglements which led to the tragic deaths of Dayton and Anna Ossoupaitis, pretty Lithuanian girl.

Dayton died in a Belgrade hospital yesterday of three bullet wounds in the head. Anna was found dead in Dayton's Belgrade apartment, shot through the head and with both wrists slashed by a safety razor blade found on the floor nearby. Dayton was born in Atlanta 27 years ago, removing to New York with his family at an early age.

Reports to the state department here say that the girl, Anna, is known to have followed Dayton to several cities in Yugoslavia, where his duties took him at times. Outside of this meager detail pointing to a love affair of some kind, either requited or unrequited on the part of Dayton, nothing is known of the entanglement. It was announced that the state department expects soon to receive a full account of the double tragedy and its causes from the foreign office of Yugoslavia and from the United States consul in Belgrade.

Mr. Dayton's father, John Charles Dayton, is widely known in Atlanta. Few of the victim's relatives, however, ever saw him, as he has been abroad for a long time and left Atlanta when he was a small boy. One of these relatives is Dayton Hale, U. S. postoffice employee, first cousin of the victim. Another is Mrs. Robert Harrison Dayton, 607 East North avenue, whose husband was a cousin of the young vice consul.

$110,000 CHURCH ANNEX PLANNED

Plans for the construction of an auditorium and Sunday school annex to the Jackson Hill Baptist church at an approximate cost of $110,000 were outlined Tuesday night by Rev. Richard K. Redwine, pastor, and building is expected to begin early in the spring on the new site at Boulevard and Rankin street.

The first unit will be the Sunday school annex, which will be four stories and will accommodate 900 students. The building will be constructed of stone and brick. The project has been before the congregation for some time and the church has sold properties owned by it on East avenue. Proceeds of this sale, augmented by subscriptions, members, will be used for the new building.

The church has a membership of about 450 members.

Dr. M. K. Jenkins is treasurer of the building committee. Preliminary plans for the new church were drawn by N. Sargent Hamilton, local architect.

JURY TO PROBE DEATH OF PHYSICIAN'S WIFE

Birmingham, Ala., December 9.—A special session of the Jefferson county grand jury will be called at Bessemer to take up the charges against Dr. George T. Edwards in connection with his wife's death. Solicitor Ben Perry stated today. Judge J. C. B. Gwin said he was considering the call for Monday.

This announcement of grand jury plans followed the action of George Ross, attorney for Edwards, in swearing out, today, a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Gwin at Bessemer. Arguments on the writ will be heard tomorrow afternoon before Judge Gwin, when a test will be made of Sheriff T. J. Shirley's right to remove Dr. Edwards from the Bessemer jail to the Jefferson county jail here.

Although the legal skirmish was the main development of the day, officers continued their investigation into the personal habits of Dr. Edwards, which have been under scrutiny for several days. Chief Deputy Henry Hill stated today that a quantity of a drug was found in the person of Dr. Edwards when he was transferred yesterday to the Birmingham jail. His attorney stated that if the indictment was true, it could mean nothing in the case of a practicing physician who frequently carries drugs.

ROBERT HULL ELECTED MAYOR OF SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., December 9.—Robert M. Hull and his entire aldermanic ticket, as well as his city executive committee, were elected in today's election by majorities ranging as high as 2,331. The Hull faction was anti-administration. Mr. Hull defeated A. W. Morehouse. About 10,000 votes were polled.

The election was an orderly one, and interest in the contest was not so keen as is usual in Savannah municipal fights. Inclement weather most of the day resulted in a lighter vote than was expected. The aldermanic ticket elected follows: E. C. Bagwell, H. J. Brinkman, John L. Cabell, James N. Carter, H. Lee Fulton, Jr., A. J. Garfunkel, William J. Hardwick, Thomas M. Holmes, P. McNamara, John P. Stevens, J. F. Sullivan, Edgar L. Wortman.

STRUCK BY TRAIN, MISSOURI MAN, SERIOUSLY HURT

W. P. Shaw, 60, of St. Louis, Mo., was injured seriously early Tuesday night when struck by an outbound L. & N. passenger train at the railroad crossing at Thurmont and Marietta streets. He was taken to Grady hospital, where his condition was reported to be serious.

Officers were unable to find witnesses to the accident, but believe that Shaw was walking across the tracks when the pilot of the engine hit him. Other details of the accident were not available late Tuesday.

When You Ask Your Grocer For Fruit Cake--- Be Specific

FRUIT Cake is a mixture of cake dough and fruit. The important thing is—how much cake dough and how much fruit? And of even greater importance—what kind and quality of fruit?

Cake dough costs from fifteen to twenty-five cents per pound. Fruit costs from seven to sixty cents per pound. Georgia pecans are the highest priced and best nuts obtainable; other nuts sell for a fraction of their price.

Into Stone's Regal Quality Fruit Cake go a plentiful supply of fresh crop Georgia pecans; citron and orange peel cured by Torrelli in far-away Italy; crystallized pineapple fritters; red cherries from France; and other fancy fruits; with just enough cake dough to hold them together. When this is all mixed and baked as only Stone knows how, you have the perfect Fruit Cake and one good enough to grace any occasion.

You will see the importance of asking for Fruit Cake by name and by insisting that it be made by responsible people of high reputation as cake makers.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirin and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspirin is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quick relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night—(adv.)

PARLEY APPROVED ON SCHOOL MERGER

Systems to attend the joint conference was adopted unanimously.

Text of Resolution.

Following is the resolution passed Tuesday morning by the College Park League of Women Voters:

"Resolved, that the College Park League of Women Voters heartily indorses and approves the proposed merger of the four school systems of the county as being a movement for the immediate and future benefit of all people of the county, and especially of the three municipalities in South Fulton-College Park, East Point and Hapeville-and-suburban communities throughout the entire county; and the league hereby pledges its active support and cooperation in securing this advance in our educational program."

Officials of all interested school systems are practically unanimous in approval of the proposition, and it is expected that a number of valuable suggestions will be brought out at the joint conference.

CHAPLAINS VOICE DEFENSE OF WORK FOR SERVICE MEN

Steps to aid enforcement of prohibition and to enlarge activities of army and navy chaplains Tuesday closed the week's session here of the quadrennial convention of the Federal Council of Churches.

One of the final speakers at the closing session was Colonel John T. Axton, head chaplain of the United States army, who presented to the council "the other side of preparedness."

The council will meet again in 1925, but the meeting place was not determined Tuesday. It will be decided by the business committee, which will announce the convention city in a few weeks.

"The main purpose of the army is to prevent war," Colonel Axton asserted. "We are men of peace. We more earnestly than anybody else desire peace on earth and good will among men. When peace is finally established for all time, the happiest man will be the professional soldier."

Tribute to Chaplains.

Colonel Axton paid a high tribute to the service and sacrifice of 3,500 chaplains, many of whom lost their lives in the recent world war. Alongside Colonel Axton on the platform at the closing session of the convention were Navy Chaplain Chief Ivan W. Scott and six other chaplains from posts in Georgia and Alabama.

The charge made by C. C. Morrison, of Chicago, last Saturday on the floor of the convention, that chaplains of the reserve corps have been "handcuffed" and that pastors, properly accredited by their denominational committees, have been refused commissions in the reserve corps because they "claim liberty of speech and action as citizens" was denied by the chaplains themselves. It was pointed out that on the very occasion when the question was raised, the decision was in favor of the "chaplain's assertions of his rights."

It was also reported that Secretary of War Weeks had issued a statement that "it is not and never has been the policy of the war department to prevent in any manner a chaplain from expressing his views or to limit his activities." And it was further explained that all chaplains are required to have the approval of official committees of their respective denominations.

It was urged that provision be made that "every soldier and sailor shall have a pastor to whom he may look for ready help." The chaplains are called on "to seek every constructive way by which the world may secure justice without war."

A long and heated debate followed on the floor of the convention, after which the entire matter of the chaplains was referred to a special committee, which is to make its report in twelve months.

"Message of the Churches of America," authorized as one of the last details of business, was presented by the council. Referring to prohibition, the message said: "The present-day duty of the moral citizenship of the nation is: (1) To magnify the value of the principle of total abstinence from the obligation upon law-abiding citizens to practice the same.

(2) To make unmistakably clear to both the lawless sellers and the lawless buyers of intoxicants that the liquor traffic has been permanently outlawed in the United States as the enemy of society; and (3) To urge upon local, state and federal governments to co-operate with increased vigor against the present organized resistance to the prohibition law until as adequate enforcement of that law has been secured as of any other social legislation."

"A great opportunity has presented itself to the church of Jerusalem," said Archbishop Panteleimon, an imposing, patriarchal figure, "to serve as a unifying factor in Christendom. The machinery for world peace may have its centers in Geneva and The Hague, but the motive for world peace emanates from the life and teachings of the Prince of Peace, and the nations of the world may well make Jerusalem a rallying center for the ideal of world peace."

"We are entirely in sympathy with the program of church cooperation for which the Federal Council stands, and it will hearten the Christians of the East to know that the churches of America are not unmindful of the tie that binds us all together."

Report of the council's commission on religious work in the Canal Zone, where the construction of two new Protestant church buildings is a project favored, was delivered Tuesday.

Work of Chaplains.

The commission on army and navy chaplains reported the following achievements in the last few years: Selection of chaplains approved by representatives of the churches and not by political party or preference.

The chaplain training school established, now a permanent part of the machinery of the army.

Definite status of chaplains incorporated in the national defense act.

Fixed ratio of chaplains.

Rank of chaplains in the army from first lieutenant to lieutenant colonel.

Chaplain corps organization headed by a chief of chaplains and a staff of two assistants.

Selection of 761 outstanding representatives of the churches as chaplains in the officers' reserve corps.

Development, with regulations, as to definite services to be rendered by the chaplains of the officers' reserve corps.

Increased interest on the part of the churches in religious work in army and navy.

Provision for an incidental fund for chaplains, to be used in helping soldiers and sailors in distress, and in many ways promoting religious interest and giving good cheer and comfort to the men.

Circulating libraries for chaplains of the army and navy.

Closer contacts between regular army, reserve corps and national guard chaplains.

BIG GRAIN ELEVATOR DESTROYED BY FIRE

Port Huron, Mich., December 9.—The Grand Trunk Elevator here, containing 600,000 bushels of grain, was destroyed, and the barge Alexander Maitland, with a cargo of barley, was burned almost to the water's edge by fire of undetermined origin this morning. Early estimates of the loss placed it at more than $500,000, including $100,000 to the barge and its cargo.

The fire started in the elevator and fanned by a high west wind, soon enveloped that structure and spread to the barge moored at the elevator wharf.

LOSS OF EXCHANGE WILL INJURE CITY

An institution which operated on an entirely different basis, an institution "whose growth and development have attracted to Atlanta from other cities a considerable number of large cotton firms which have come here in order to facilitate their legitimate business."

Would Divert Business.

Governor Wellborn issued the warning that should the Atlanta Commercial Exchange be destroyed by those who are now bringing legal action, all this business would necessarily be diverted from Atlanta to New York, Chicago and other large branches of business.

"Cotton mills," said Governor Wellborn, "necessarily trade in futures in order to protect their legitimate business interests. If exchanges were closed these mills would incur a much larger risk than is the case at the present. We all remember that at the outbreak of the war when the cotton exchange at New York was closed cotton dropped from 15 to 6 cents a pound. At that time all branches of business, including the farmers themselves, clamored for reopening of the cotton exchange in New York, and when this was accomplished, general satisfaction resulted."

In line with his remarks on the Atlanta commercial exchange and its value to Atlanta and this section Governor Wellborn declared the Federal Reserve bank had been a big factor in the city's financial development and had helped in making this city one of the great cotton centers.

He touched on the defeat of the radical element in the last presidential race and spoke of the general feeling of confidence that had come with the restoration of conservatism in politics. He praised the work of Senator Oscar Underwood in the present Muscle Shoals legislation and told of the immense benefits that would be derived from operation of these great works in Alabama.

asked the attorney, almost triumphantly, "Yes."

"Well, did you pay the $220?" asked the attorney after a pause. "No, I gave it to Mrs. Mortimer."

"Did Mrs. Mortimer pay him?" "I suppose so—I've seen him take money from her before," Mortimer replied. "She was always giving money to her Bobby."

Col. Eashy-Smith drew the curtain on the bed-room comedy and sought to elicit more information regarding the $15,000 transaction. It is this particular "deal" by which the government hopes to prove its case against Forbes and Thompson. The defense is attempting to establish that it was "physically impossible" for Mortimer to have delivered this money to Forbes.

Gave Him $10,000.

Mortimer testified that Thompson had called him into the lavatory off the living room and given him $10,000 in $500 bills.

"I asked him about the other $5,000," said Mortimer, "and he said he'd give it to me the next morning. Then I called Forbes into the lavatory and gave him 10 $500 bills. I asked him if he would give me a receipt, but he just laughed and went out.

"Come out and let's get a drink on this," he said."

"Well, did you get the drink?" the attorney asked.

"Oh, yes. And Forbes already was half-soaked."

"And did you get your other $5,000 from Thompson the following day?"

Mortimer answered that he did and then the attorney brought out that Mortimer signed the note to Thompson for a "loan." Mortimer insisted, however, that the "loan" in reality was the "cover-up of a crooked transaction."

At some points in his testimony, Mortimer's nose developed a tingle and Col. Eashy-Smith appealed to the court to restrain him from his insolence.

POWERS WARN CHINA TO OBSERVE TREATY

Peking, December 9.—The ministers of the powers which signed the boxer peace protocol met today and drafted a note to the Chinese government drawing attention to the necessity of China observing her treaty obligations and indicating that the powers concerned are ready to assist her in accordance with the Washington treaty if she fulfills her foreign engagements. The note was dispatched this afternoon.

Canton, China, December 9.—Three of the Canton Christian college students captured by bandits Saturday have returned to the college on parole bringing a demand for ransom for the others, still held prisoner. (A Canton dispatch on Sunday said 48 Chinese teachers and students of the Christian college had been seized by bandits while going from Canton to the college in a launch flying the American flag.)

General Li Fuh Lin, commander of the troops, who are searching for the kidnappers, counseling the released students not to return and advising against payment of ransom, has warned the elders of four villages that he will destroy their towns unless the captives are freed.

Spending Telephone Dollars In Georgia

THE Telephone Company is spending this year, for new plant and for operating expenses in Georgia, more money than it collects for all forms of telephone service in the State.

The new money invested in additions and extensions to the system will amount to $2,300,000, while the operating expenses will be approximately $5,465,000.

A large part of the money collected for service is disbursed in local communities and remains in Georgia's channels of trade where it contributes to the commercial progress and prosperity of the State.

The rapid and continuous growth of the telephone system requires the investment of enormous sums of new money each year. These funds must be secured by the sale of securities or be borrowed in the money market. The money you pay for service cannot be used for this purpose.

Hundreds of trained people, most of them natives of the State, and many of them your neighbors and friends, are devoting their best efforts to serving you efficiently.

They appreciate the public interest and co-operation which encourages them in their efforts to keep pace with the telephone needs of their State.

There are more than 1850 telephone stockholders in Georgia. Bell system stock may be bought at any telephone office, for cash or by making monthly payments.

Don't look wistfully at winter pleasures

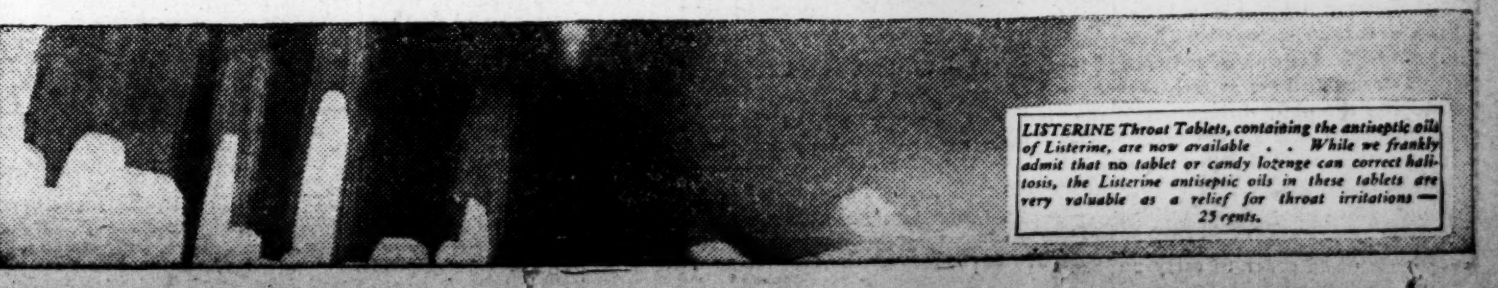

DOES sore throat throw you out of step with winter sports? Don't let it. There's no need of looking longingly at out-door pleasures this time of year because sore throat locks the door.

Guard against this trouble by taking the simple precaution of using Listerine systematically as a preventive for throat irritations and the more serious ills that so often follow.

When you feel that first "dry hitch" on swallowing, gargle with Listerine, the safe antiseptic. Don't let sore throat stand in your way just when you want to feel your best for business or pleasure.

Have Listerine handy always in your bathroom. It's the ideal, safe antiseptic. Its dozens of different uses are fully described on the circular that comes around every bottle.—Lambert Pharmacal Company, Saint Louis, U. S. A.

LISTERINE Throat Tablets, containing the antiseptic oil of Listerine, are now available. While we frankly admit that no tablet or candy lozenge can correct halitosis, the Listerine antiseptic oils in these tablets are very valuable as a relief for throat irritations—25-cents.

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

Said the Colonel.

"It's a milk-and-water Christ."

Said the Colonel.

"I'm afraid."

To lift an empty glass.

Or call it lemonade.

To pledge the world.

"I'm not content."

In one week half of one per cent!

II.

"So high and dry we'll make it."

And let the weather roll.

From Providence we'll take it.

With Christmas in the soul.

Be thankful for all blessings sent—

Even one-half of one per cent!"

As "Uncle John" Says.

In his department in The Excelsior Springs Standard—

"I'm not always an object of dread, unless it's tobacco or whisky—or something that flies to his head. It could be a passel of whiskers—a goodly wrinkles or warts, for the things that grow on a feller must be reckoned as different sorts. But when it's the habit of savin' or the habit of regin' lar meals, or of takin' one's breakfast at sunup—no matter how lazy he feels! It could be a hunger for read- ing or solvin' the problems of life, like raisin' the boys and girls, or of gettin' along with the wife. It might as well be somethin' noble as somethin' disruptive and bad for the feller. I'm not growin' on it, but I think it's a good thing. In the cap- able way of selectin' it's risky to judge with a whiff for the idea that grows on a feller will make him the man that he is."

III.

The Illusive Season.

I.

You'd hardly think it's winter.

For I'm takin' of my case.

Listen to the music.

Of the flower-scented breeze.

II.

Sweetest music ringin'.

From the valley, plain and hill.

For the birds are make-believe.

That summer's with us still.

III.

No wonder, in the weather.

Life ripples glad and gay.

And the heart is just as happy.

As life would have a song.

American History in British Schools

BY EDWARD A. FILENE,

Publicist and Leading American Merchant

Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, has discovered it to be the first duty of an ambassador to acquaint his people with the truth about their neighbors. He, therefore, proposes that American history be taught in British schools.

It is a proposal that can be approved by all Americans and by all British who believe in the promotion of that good understanding between nations that results from a knowledge of the progress, the problems, and the aspirations of other peoples.

If the educators of England respond to their ambassador's suggestion, it is to be hoped that the American history the British read will tell the story of the growth of the American democracy, not merely the record of its wars and political successions.

And as much can be said for the teaching of British history in American schools.

How many American children leave schools with a picture of England as a land of redwoods ruled by a George Third with a Lord North? How many British history books in American schools tell of the slow

Marx Will Stake His Future On Bringing Four Socialists Into New Coalition Cabinet

Chancellor Will Resign
If Proposal Is Rejected
Today, According to Hints Heard in Berlin.

BY ERIC KEYSER.

Berlin, December 9.—Chancellor Marx, of Germany, intends to stake his immediate political future on a proposition to bring into the German cabinet four members of the socialist party, and thus cement to the government the great bloc of socialist votes in the reichstag.

Marx will meet the cabinet Wednesday, and it is learned on good authority that he will place before his colleagues a scheme whereby the ministries of transport, justice, interior and unoccupied areas would be administered by socialists.

It is hinted that the chancellor intends to resign if the cabinet rejects his proposal.

Stresemann to Oppose Coalition.
Foreign Minister Stresemann, leader of the semi-monarchist folk party, probably will oppose Marx's proposal to the socialists. For months Stresemann and his followers have wavered on the question of monarchy. Some times they side with the republicans, then again with the monarchists. Stresemann's vacillation has brought many storms of socialist disapproval raining about his head. Neither party is anxious to harness itself to the other in a coalition cabinet.

Meantime, the nationalists, a pan-German group with a scattering of monarchists in its ranks and leadership, are trumpeting their claim of some fat cabinet posts. The republican parties are a bit fearful of embarking on a straight republican course, charted by a republican cabinet composed of socialists.

spired by the fact that the government, with its safe majority, is faced by a five-year tenure of office unless the unexpected happens.

King George's reference to the Egyptian crisis, bluntly and forcefully worded by his ministers, is considered definitely to have settled Great Britain's attitude toward Egypt. England maintains her "Monroe doctrine" in this region. The Zaghloul government was directly charged with inspiring hostility towards Great Britain, culminating in the murder of the sirdar.

Pronouncement on Russia.

The pronouncement with regard to Russia definitely recorded a nega-tion to the efforts of Prime Minister MacDonald, during the labor government's regime for wider dealings with the soviets, but this caused no surprise, as the bolshevik issue loomed large in the last elections and the fear of the soviets' influence in the minds of the people has been credited with doing much to give Prime Minister Baldwin his huge majority.

Those who are working for the end that the British empire shall become self-supporting found much encouragement in the king's pronouncement for imperial preference and closer cooperation between all branches of the empire.

MANY COUNTIES IN DIXIE FREED

South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia and Oklahoma.

Further, the report of Dr. Ramsay reads:

Entire State Now Free.

"At the beginning of the campaign,
July 1, 1906, the entire state of Georgia was under the exception of a very small area in the northeastern part, was tick territory. Now all sections of the state may, for the first time, reap the benefits of a live stock industry free of quarantine restrictions."

The territory released by the new order is detailed as follows:

Arkansas: White county, the remainder of Jackson and a part of Conway.

Florida: Hadsden county.

Georgia: Charlton, Clinch, Echols and Lanier counties.

Oklahoma: Sequoyah county.

North Carolina: Hyde, Martin, Tyrrell, Washington, and the remainder of Beaufort and Dare counties.

Texas: Arkansas, Calhoun, Comal, Eastland, Goliad, Jackson, Medina, Uvalde, and parts of Matagorda and Wharton counties.

The freed quarantined include Clark county, Alabama; Ascension and Assumption parishes, Louisiana; Bowie, Harrison, Kendall, Smith and Titus counties, Texas.

QUARANTINE LIFTED IN SEVERAL STATES.

Washington, December 9.—The bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture, after 18 years of warfare, is approaching complete victory over the cattle tick, it was declared today in annual lifting federal quarantine in several states. Quar-antines in 19 counties and parts of six counties are to be removed, making a total of 700 counties released since the campaign began. Of the 975 counties which have been infested, 275 remain under federal restriction, and in 171, one or more herds are under local quarantine. Five hundred and twenty-nine counties are certified as tick free. The new orders remove six counties in Texas, one in Alabama and two in Louisiana.

Georgia, for the first time since 1906, is entirely free of tick quarantine, four counties being released under the Monday orders. At the beginning of the campaign all of Georgia except a small area in the northeast part was quarantined. Four other states now are freed of tick restrictions—California, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Only small areas remain infested in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Alabama and Oklahoma. North Carolina's plan of zoning the tick areas is expected by Dr. R. A. Ramsey, federal officer in charge of tick eradication, to clear that state by 1926.

The counties to be released Monday in Arkansas are White, part of Jackson and Conway; Florida: Gadsden; Georgia: Charlton, Clinch, Echols, Lanier; Oklahoma: Sequoyah; North Carolina: Hyde, Martin, Tyrrell, Washington, part of Beaufort and Dare; Texas: Arkansas, Calhoun, Comal, Eastland, Goliad, Jackson, Medina, Uvalde, part of Matagorda and Wharton.

The quarantined area includes Clarke county, Alabama; Ascension and Assumption, Louisiana; Bowie, Harrison, Kendall, Smith and Titus, Texas.

than half of 1 per cent alcohol, took the case of The Post and Tribune arbitration board, after the final arguments of counsel, and is expected to render a decision within a week.

Baker Argues Case.

The Baltimore Post is specifically charged with violating the law in publishing the income tax payments of five prominent citizens of Maryland.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war and counsel for the Scripps-Howard newspapers, argued The Post's demurrer, contending that publication of the figures was clearly within the privileges of the press and argued that inasmuch as "returns," as defined by the internal revenue statutes, had not been printed by The Post, the newspaper was not more guilty of "publication" than was the internal revenue collector in making the lists available to the public.

"The freedom of the press means the right to print what one may lawfully say," Baker declared. "Neither can be restricted where the other is permitted."

Incompetent to Prohibit.

"When congress has decided that the collector shall publish a fact, it is incompetent to prohibit the publication of the same fact by the press," United States Attorney Woodcock insisted that it was clear "congress intended to prevent printing or publishing" the tax payments and that "the provision is constitutional."

"The revenue act of 1924 makes it unlawful for any person to print or publish in any matter whatever not provided by law any income return or any part thereof," said Woodcock.

"What was published is the name of an income tax payer and the amount he paid. I think there can be no doubt that this is a part of the payer's income tax return, although Judge Reeves, in The Kansas City case, seems to hold the contrary."

Prayer All That Is Left To Church in Red Russia

.. BISHOP OF JERUSALEM HERE SEEKING FUNDS ..

ARCHBISHOP PANTELEIMON.

About the only thing one can afford to do in Red Russia now is to pray, and if fees of the soviets don't quit shooting down the main thoroughfares during office hours, even this religious pastime may be curtailed.

The soviets have shut down on the church hard and all financial support has been withdrawn, according to Archbishop Panteleimon, one of the foremost leaders of the Eastern Orthodox Church in Russia, who has been in attendance at the quadrennial meeting of the Federal Churches of Christ here at the Central Presbyterian church, where a week's session ended Tuesday.

Archbishop Panteleimon—better known in the far east as The Bishop of Jerusalem—indicates that very soon, religiously-inclined persons in Jerusalem and points east will go to sacred functions with a Bible in one hand and a fly in the other.

The soviets have no time for religion, the Bishop of Jerusalem avers, and frowns on any demonstration by religious persons of any kind or description.

Archbishop Panteleimon is in the United States to raise funds to help preserve the sacred places in the holy lands from the wanton hands of the soviets, who already have destroyed many religious monuments and valuable landmarks.

Although the archbishop has not met with any marked success thus far in soliciting funds for this purpose, he is not daunted nor discouraged and will not return to Palestine until he has fulfilled his mission.

Archbishop Panteleimon is the world's only possessor of a sacred heart, known to his faith as a "pure heart." He wears this heart conspicuously on the breast of his frock. It signifies a psalm: "Create in me a clean heart and renew a right spirit."

The archbishop also wears a huge cross alongside the heart. Both sacred ornaments are studded with real pure white diamonds which are invaluable.

It is believed safe to publish the fact that Archbishop Panteleimon never removes these priceless ornaments from his person—as the archbishop has departed for the east—and is safe from the designs of "stick-up" men.

Woman Should Renounce Right To Smoke, Is Claim

.. MRS. ASHBY EXPRESSES VIEWS ON NICOTINE ..

BY KENNETH L. EAGON.

The question of smoking among women, which came into the public eye recently when the National Order of Pipe Smokers voted to bar affiliation of female lodges, continued to stir interest among Atlanta women.

Several women, who have defended the new institution, while others have caustically denounced it.

The newest addition to the forum is Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby, of 70 Ful-ham street, whose ideas are most liberal and whose "psychological" antipathy against tobacco in any form must be digested to be appreciated.

Here is Mrs. Ashby's first-person sentiments on tobacco:

"As far as women having the right and the privilege to smoke equal with men, I think really there is no question about that. That they haven't the right is simply a race thought, a prejudiced race thought created by years of thinking—or men's thinking, rather—and woman's thinking, too, that it is not the thing to do."

"Recently, a very prominent man from Washington, D. C., asked me if when women were enfranchised and came into political freedom, did I feel like I wanted to smoke? I answered that it never affected me at that way at all. I consider that tobacco in any form has a deleterious and pernicious effect on the physical

"Most mothers are very much concerned about their children using cigarettes. It is recognized that the cigarette habit is deleterious and injurious.
A woman who smokes could not reasonably expect to have the proper influence on her children relative to this question."

"I do not question the right or object to any woman smoking who desires to, and, if that is her idea of freedom, in this new age and time, that is all right for her. But the question with me is: Can I not use my political freedom in more constructive ways? Do I add anything to my personality or to my development in any way by acquiring a habit in which you have to slap your solar plexus to sleep several times before it will stand for this acquired unnatural habit. For it is a well-known fact that to acquire this habit the system must be accustomed to the poison before it will tolerate it."

MAYFIELD PROBE UNDER WAY AGAIN

Washington, December 9.—Incidents in the campaign and election in Texas in 1922 were related to a senate elections subcommittee today in its consideration of the charges of fraud and intimidation brought by George E. B. Peddy, contesting the election of Senator Mayfield, democrat, Texas.

Testimony that illegal ballots bearing the name of Mayfield had been substituted for those authorized by election commissioners in Navarro county and that "armed bands" had appeared at polling places in Burleson county, was given by the five witnesses heard today.

Upon the presentation tomorrow of evidence from one more witness the committee will decide whether to go further into the charges of Peddy.

Savannah, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Georgia gets still another new shipping facility, in addition to at least four services listed in the past year. Today regular monthly sailings via the Dollar Line are announced from Savannah to Java and the Far East, the Atlantic and Gulf Shipping company making the announcement.

The M. S. Dollar, ship named slightly smaller than the Robert Dollar, which recently established the record of being the biggest vessel ever to unload and take cargo here, will sail from Savannah about December 20.

The new line will open markets for a variety of products of the southeast. Points in Japan and China as well as the East Indies are on the calls of these vessels.

Senate Moves to Settlement Of Muscle Shoals Question By Disposing of Amendments

All Those Favored by Senator Underwood Adopted, While Those He Opposes Rejected.

Washington, December 9.—The Muscle Shoals question moved slowly today toward final settlement as the senate disposed of a number of amendments to the Underwood bill.

Every amendment which Senator Underwood opposed was defeated and those he favored were adopted without a record vote. Opponents of the measure as well as its supporters, looked upon the votes on the amendments as a test on the bill, which is regarded as certain of passage.

Although senate leaders are exerting pressure to prevent prolongation of the discussion, they do not expect to reach a final vote until the last part of the week. If debate gets out of bounds, the leaders plan to seek an agreement to limit discussion of amendments to five minutes for each senator.

Norris To Fight Bill. Several senators are prepared to discuss the issue at length. Chairman Norris, of the senate agriculture committee, who vigorously is opposed to the Underwood bill, said today he would analyze the measure in a speech and reiterated that he probably would introduce a new bill in the form of an amendment.

Two amendments to the Underwood bill were passed by the senate without a record vote. One by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, provided that the lessee of Muscle Shoals must be either an American citizen or an American-controlled corporation. The other, by Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, struck out of the bill the requirements that funds of the operating corporation should be placed in federal reserve banks.

The amendment of Senator Borah, democrat, Maryland, which would have placed government employees at Muscle Shoals under the civil service commission, was voted down, 65 to 6.

Harris Amendment Rejected. Another amendment, rejected by the senate, was that by Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, which would prohibit the lessee from transferring any lease or interest in Muscle Shoals without the consent of the secretary of war.

The vote was 37 to 29, 23 republicans and 14 democrats opposing the amendment, while 20 democrats, 8 republicans and one farmer-labor supported it.

A second amendment by Senator Harris, which would have given the secretary of agriculture authority to regulate the price and sale of fertilizer manufactured at Muscle Shoals, was rejected, 18 to 47.

After an extended argument by Senator Underwood and Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, the senate voted down the McNary amendment, 34 to 29, to place power development at Muscle Shoals under regulation of the federal waterpower act.

Amendment Denounced. Just before the senate adjourned, Senator McKellar introduced another amendment to authorize the secretary of war to regulate the rates of power produced at Muscle Shoals. This was met by opposition from all sides, Senators Norris, Underwood and Robinson joining in a denunciation of the amendment.

Senator Underwood declared the Tennessee senator had lived bodily the regulatory provisions of the federal waterpower act without including the proviso of the act, which stipulated that it cease to function when it conflicted with state regulatory agencies. He declared the amendment went further than the waterpower act.

Senator McKellar admitted he had drafted the amendment from the waterpower act, but declared it was necessary to assure a uniform rate for Muscle Shoals power in interstate distribution. A vote on the amendment is expected tomorrow.

Amendment of Smith. The Smith amendment would require the government to maintain Muscle Shoals until it had been demonstrated that a satisfactory, marketable fertilizer can be produced and standardized.

Several amendments to the Underwood bill were presented by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi. These would require the completion by the government of dam number 3, raise the time limit from four to 10 years when the government corporation would cease operations until notified by congress to proceed in event the interest on bonds was not being earned; change the rental required of a lessee from 4 per cent of the cost of dam number 2 and the hydro-electric units to 4 per cent of the total amount already expended by the government plus the cost that would be spent for dam number 3; strip the secretary of war of powers extended under the Underwood bill to lease the property and place the leasing in the hands of an organization committee, which also would organize a government corporation if the government should operate the property.

The senate will proceed tomorrow with voting on these and other amendments.

NORRIS OUTLINES SHOALS MEASURE. Washington, December 9.—The new Muscle Shoals bill, which Senator Norris notified the senate he would introduce as an amendment to the Underwood bill if it is accepted as an amendment to the original Norris bill, would declare the spirit and intention of congress in passing the act to be: "Primarily to provide for the national defense by maintaining ready for immediate use for war purposes nitrate plant No. 2.

"To promote agriculture by developing cheap fertilizers and other things of benefit to agriculture to the highest degree.

"To assist in the development of electric power by the complete storage and utilization of the waters of our rivers and their tributary streams in conjunction with steam and other sources of fuel to the end that electrical energy may be carried to all citizens.

"These objects shall be carried out as nearly as possible without interference with private enterprise."

Both the power and fertilizer developments at Muscle Shoals would be developed by a government corporation known as the Federal Chemical corporation. The secretary of war would be authorized to complete construction of dams 2 and 3 from government funds and would be permitted to construct storage reservoirs, but if any private corporation is to benefit by the reservoirs it would have to pay a proportionate share of the cost.

The chemical corporation would be controlled by a board of three directors appointed by the president at a salary of $10,000 a year. Employees would be selected solely on a merit basis.

The corporation would have the use of both nitrate plants, Waco quarry, railroads and other useful property for the manufacture of fertilizer, which would be sold to farmers. A system of sale that would prevent charging farmers unreasonable prices would be provided.

The corporation would have authority to sell all surplus power needed for fertilizer manufacture, but the board would regulate the resale price of the power in the sale contract. To broaden the transmission of current over a wider area, the board would be authorized to enter into agreements with owners of present transmission lines or to construct their own lines. The corporation also would be authorized to complete the steam auxiliary plant at nitrate plant No. 2, according to the original plan.

Capital stock of the corporation would be created by turning over the sum of $3,472,487.25 received from the Alabama Power company for the Gorgas steam plant. Receipts from the sale of surplus property at Muscle Shoals would be turned into the capital stock, the corporation would be allowed to increase from net earnings until $25,000,000 is raised. Immediate conversion of the property into the production of explosives in time of war is provided.

MERCER TO PLAY CLASS CONTESTS

Macon, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—The coming of January will initiate another football season at Mercer when class teams will meet on the gridiron in six contests for the campus championship.

Georgia Tech's basketball candidates engaged in a very light scrimmage Tuesday afternoon for the first time, but no attempt was made at shooting the baskets.

A supposed varsity squad was lined up against a frosh five and a long passing and guarding session was held. Then two more combinations were sent against each other in a passing drill and so on throughout the afternoon until more than five different combinations had been tried.

No attempt was made to pick a team. Coach Hansen was letting the players put into practice what he tried to teach them all last week in pivoting and passing drills. Hansen also introduced for the first time at practice Tuesday afternoon.

Sam Murray Reports. Sam Murray, backfielder for the football team for the last two weeks of the season, joined the squad Tuesday afternoon for the first time since he has been in Atlanta at Tech. Sam was a star guard in prep circles, but Tuesday afternoon was his first attempt at basketball at Tech. John Marshall, end on the football team, joined the basketball candidates Monday night and got into the work immediately. Marshall played basketball in several games last season, but did not make a letter.

Douglas McCroff, Bob Heeves and "Molly" Williamson, from the football team, have not as yet joined the basketball candidates, but they are expected to start basketball in the next few days.

One of the most impressive combinations that took the floor in a passing drill Tuesday afternoon was with Frankie and Wilder, former Lanier High forwards; Cliff King, at center, with Captain Moore and Carter Barron on the guarding side. That combination looked good, but Coach Hansen shifted the various combinations until every candidate on the floor has his chance in the passing game.

During the course of the afternoon's workout the players had ample opportunity to demonstrate just what Coach Hansen taught them last week in pivoting and passing drills. Several of the players showed real improvement over last year both in accurate passing and also in pivoting.

Chapter XVII.—Wrong Pitch—Rube Waddell Threw It—Ty Cobb Hit It—It Won a Pennant.

BY H. G. SALSINGER.

Baseball historians, setting down how a pennant was won, often point to one series that was the break in a season's race. One can go deeper in this analysis. One can look at a particular series and that game probably had one play that was the break of the game and that one play came on a certain pitched ball.

Ask any major league pitcher and he will tell you that one ball pitched was more important than a game; it not alone can, but often does.

It is a long time since Detroit and Hughie Jennings, won the American league pennant in 1907. All who studied the matter were agreed that one series decided the pennant, a series between Detroit and Connie Mack's Athletics. One game was played late in the season, a 17-inning tie that broke the Athletics, one of the most famous games in history.

Going further into the matter that game was snatched from Philadelphia in the ninth inning on a home run by Ty Cobb and that home run stood out as the most important hit of the season of 1907. But that home run was made possible because Cobb out-guessed the late "Rube" Waddell, a remarkable left-handed pitcher, illiterate but cunning, with fast physical power and with all the stuff a pitcher wants. He had just about everything and Connie Mack had sent him to the box that afternoon to start off the Detroit attack and give Philadelphia the break that she needed to win the championship.

How this game was snatched from Philadelphia, was later told by Waddell himself. We have a vivid recollection of his recital and the story follows:

"Up comes this Cobb, and I feeds him a fast one on the inside where he wasn't supposed to, particularly like to see 'em pitched. I always figured that if this fellow had any sense it was on a ball pitched close by. The way he stood at bat made him shift too quick to get a good hold of the ball.

"Well, I shoved the first one in over the inside corner of the plate and he looks at it. A umpire calls it a strike and he pays no attention to it. I immediately figures this bird is looking for a certain ball. I'd give him just what he wanted on the next one or the one after that. He figures I'm going to be working on him. So I see my chance and I hit him. I says to myself, 'I'll feed him this cuckoo one. I'll feed him a fast one in a hole, then let him guess on what's comin'.

"Once more I shoots a fast one for the inside corner and the second ball leaves my hand I knows I made a bum play. This Cobb, who didn't seem to have noticed the first one, steps back like he had the catcher's sign, takes a toe hold and swings on her. I guess that ball is going yet."

"Later on, I meets this Cobb on the street, an' I says to him, 'Listen here, Cobb, it's all over an' every thing an' there ain't no hard feelin' or nothin', so tell me, why don't you swing at that first one, the fast one I send over. You don't give it a look an' you're all set for the same thing when I repeats. Did you have the catcher's sign or somethin'?"

"An' this Cobb says to me: 'Why I figures if I lets the first one pass and makes out I don't notice it and I'm lookin' for somethin' else, you'll try to cross me up and shoot the next one over the same spot, feelin' sure you double crosses me. I feel so sure that so soon as the ball leaves your hand I jump back, take a toe hold an' swing. Sure enough I was right. You hand me the same thing back."

"An' I says to this Cobb, 'Kid, you had me doped 100 per cent right in the middle of the game. You sure was a sure thing on the stuff you did.'"

One Wrong Pitch. The eccentric Waddell pitched one ball wrong in that game. He did not know it was wrong until he talked to Cobb. Then he knew that one pitched ball robbed the Athletics of a victory, and that one pitched ball enabled Detroit to win the pennant in 1907.

After having batted against all kinds of pitching over a stretch of nine games, Cobb made this observation:

"Most pitchers follow a set system of pitching to you. You can get this system after batting against them once or twice. If they throw you a fast ball, a slow ball, curve, fast one, in that order the first time you come to bat it is almost certain that they will throw you the same thing in the same order the next time you come up. Few pitchers vary from this system, and the few that do are the leading pitchers.

"Knowing what is coming is one thing, but hitting it is another. You often know just where the ball will be pitched, but often it carries so much stuff that you can not get to the ball. You can not get to the ball to hit safely even when you have the advantage of knowing what it is."

Tech Holds First Cage Scrimmage of Season

Georgia Tech's basketball candidates engaged in a very light scrimmage Tuesday afternoon for the first time, but no attempt was made at shooting the baskets.

A supposed varsity squad was lined up against a frosh five and a long passing and guarding session was held. Then two more combinations were sent against each other in a passing drill and so on throughout the afternoon until more than five different combinations had been tried.

No attempt was made to pick a team. Coach Hansen was letting the players put into practice what he tried to teach them all last week in pivoting and passing drills. Hansen also introduced for the first time at practice Tuesday afternoon.

Sam Murray Reports. Sam Murray, backfielder for the football team for the last two weeks of the season, joined the squad Tuesday afternoon for the first time since he has been in Atlanta at Tech. Sam was a star guard in prep circles, but Tuesday afternoon was his first attempt at basketball at Tech. John Marshall, end on the football team, joined the basketball candidates Monday night and got into the work immediately. Marshall played basketball in several games last season, but did not make a letter.

Douglas McCroff, Bob Heeves and "Molly" Williamson, from the football team, have not as yet joined the basketball candidates, but they are expected to start basketball in the next few days.

One of the most impressive combinations that took the floor in a passing drill Tuesday afternoon was with Frankie and Wilder, former Lanier High forwards; Cliff King, at center, with Captain Moore and Carter Barron on the guarding side. That combination looked good, but Coach Hansen shifted the various combinations until every candidate on the floor has his chance in the passing game.

During the course of the afternoon's workout the players had ample opportunity to demonstrate just what Coach Hansen taught them last week in pivoting and passing drills. Several of the players showed real improvement over last year both in accurate passing and also in pivoting.

Smithies Adding Final Touches for Columbia

BY GORDON KEITH.

Tech High got in its first real practice session since the Boys' High fracas last Tuesday when Coaches Tolbert and Alexander sent their championship charges through the paces at Piedmont park, putting the finishing touches on the mighty Smithies eleven in preparation for the post-season battle in Augusta Saturday with Columbia High, the undefeated and unscored-on machine from the Carolina's that is very actively disputing the Atlanta eleven's claim to southern prep honors.

The Purple and Gold squad is in the best condition of the season, and expects to give the invaders all they may be looking for in the championship meeting Saturday morning with the Georgia city. Bob Randolph, all-prep fullback and one of the best backs in the south, is back in togs and ready for action. His absence was reported broken when he was removed in the first quarter of the Boys' High game, but Bob is as good as new again and Tech High boys soar with his return to the squad.

Squad Leaves Friday. Coach Tolbert with his first eleven men will leave Friday afternoon for Augusta, and Coach Alexander will follow Saturday morning with a second team. The Georgia road has offered reduced rates of one fare and 25 cents round trip, total transportation amounting to $8.41, and a large delegation of Tech High rooters have voiced their intentions of accompanying their team. The band will most probably make the trip, subscriptions now being raised to cover expenses, and Tech High is planning to let Augusta, South Carolina, and the world at large, know that the Junior Smithies will certainly not suffer from lack of support.

Coaches expect to start the lineup Saturday that faced Boys' High at the opening whistle, with Rosenblatt, Parshall, Thompson and Randolph in the backfield, and Holland and Morris, ends; Lautsenheiser and McClure, tackles; Watkins and Payne, guards, and Kus, center. With this eleven to open hostilities, and reserve material with such men as Mayhew and Clinkscales in the backfield, and Davis, McConnell and O'Beir in the line, Tech High is mighty well fixed.

Columbia Is Strong. Columbia has a wonderful record for the season, having cleared away opposition about as impressively as Tech High, and are primed for battle Saturday. The South Carolina team has not been scored on all season, quite a record in itself. The only comparative score is between Richmond academy, Columbia downing the cadets to the tune of 28-0 and Tech High walking away with a 35-0 win. Things look about even in this respect, and though dope means less than nothing these days, it is at least interesting.

Everybody probably knows the substance of Tech High's great record this fall, but it is such an impressive one that we like to reprint it time and again. The Smithies started against a strong G. I. A. A. team, defeating Darlington, in Atlanta, 19-0. Powder Springs was next taken into camp, and a 37-0 score run up on the visitors. The team next made its first invasion north, losing its only game of the season to Steele High, of Dayton, Ohio, 32-7.

Steele High was former American champion and, incidentally, Tech High held the northerners by the closest score of the year, the mighty Steele team running roughshod over all opposition. Ender High, from Birmingham, met the Smithies next and in holding the local team to a scoreless tie put the only blot on Tech High's southern record.

Beat Little Rock. Richmond academy next went down 35-0, and G. M. A. next fell before the Smithie attack, 26-0. Riverside was snowed under, 32-0 next, and Little Rock, former southwestern champions, was defeated Thanksgiving day, 35-7. Boys' High, ancient and bitter rival, went down last Tuesday, 65-0. The biggest score by far ever heard of between the two enemies.

In Thomson and Randolph, Tech High has two of the best backs we've seen in prep circles in years, and with as heavy, fast and brainy a line as the Smithies most certainly boast, Columbia will have to play superhuman ball to take the measure of Captain Holland's team.

TIGER KITTENS GET NUMERALS

Auburn, Ala., December 9.—(Special.)—Eighteen numerals will be awarded members of the Tiger freshman football team, according to announcement made today. The awards of the numerals are in keeping with the custom in vogue since the advent of the freshmen training in the grid game, and the awards will be made to the outstanding performers of the squad which was so large this year and so many men used in the course of the season that the matter of selecting players to receive the numerals was made very difficult.

The team that might be termed the varsity freshman outfit, and made up principally of those receiving the coveted numerals were coached by Kirk Newell, who was assisted by Captain Cunnion, Cushman and Pick of the R. O. T. C. units of the military department. The season, after getting off to a slow start, closed with flying colors.

KITE EXPERIMENT OF BEN FRANKLIN IS CALLED MYTH

Boston, December 9.—Benjamin Franklin's famous experiment with a kite during a thunderstorm, causing a shock through a key at the end of the string, was declared a myth that had taken its place with Washington's axe and cherry tree and William Tell's apple and arrow in an address today by Prof. Alexander MacDill, director of the Blue Hill observatory.

A coroner's jury would have been holding an inquest on Franklin's remains the next day if he had performed the experiment as popular history has it, the scientist said.

Gibbons Scores Technical K. O. in Sixth Round

Norfolk Badly Battered Before Battle Is Checked; Flowers Wins From Wilson

New York, December 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Tommy Gibbons, pride of the middle-west and leading contender for Jack Dempsey's crown, battered Kid Norfolk, rugged negro light-heavyweight, into submission to night in Madison Square Garden. Gibbons scored a technical knockout over his dusky opponent, when the referee stopped the fight in the sixth round of their 15-round match to save Norfolk further punishment.

Flashing a dazzling exhibition of footwork and punching skill, the St. Paul fighter outclassed Norfolk before a capacity crowd of 13,000 persons that paid a total of $107,599 to make up the "gate" for the Christmas fund raised by a New York newspaper.

Gibbons cut the negro to pieces with a relentless driving attack that beat down Norfolk's rugged defense in short order. The Kid was on the verge of a knockout in the fourth round, was saved from a final count in the fifth round when a terrific right to the jaw sent him down for a count of two and lasted only fifty-five seconds in the sixth and last round.

Norfolk was dropped for a count of six in the last round with another smashing right to the jaw. He reeled backward as he got to his feet, staggered across the ring and fell to his back before Gibbons could land another blow. Norfolk was palpably unable to continue and Referee Sheridan stepped between the fighters, waving Gibbons his victory.

Flowers Pleased Crowd. Gibbons' quick victory was a spectacular climax to the charity show which kept the crowd in an uproar from start to finish. The St. Paul giant triumphed over little less sensation than the knockout of Johnny Wilson, former world's middleweight champion, at the hands of Tiger Flowers, Atlanta negro, in the third round of a 10-round match.

Flowers, swarming over Wilson with a two-fisted, tireless assault, quickly weakened Wilson with a steady drive to head and body and the referee stopped the encounter, giving the negro a technical knockout, while Wilson, beaten to a corner of the ring, was obviously helpless to go on. Wilson apparently in poor condition, did not take a count but was literally "out on his feet."

Gibbons, in superb condition, quickly demonstrated his superiority over Norfolk. The negro mixed willingly but he was unable to block Gibbons' shifty attack or to counter the St. Paul man's defense with any effectiveness.

Gibbons cut Norfolk about the eyes and nose with a rattling fire of jabs and hooks in the second round and started fresh flow of blood from Norfolk's mouth in the third.

Fourth Almost Fatal. Norfolk's finish seemed imminent in the fourth when he was staggered by a solid left to the middle and a moment later by a right swing to the head. He weathered the blow, however, although visibly groggy, and rallied in the fifth round, forcing the fighting and starting blood from Gibbons' nose until a terrific right smash to the head sent him to the floor.

Up at the count of two, Norfolk swayed toward Gibbons but the bell saved him from further punishment, but he had only a brief respite before the finish in the sixth.

Promoters announced profit from the contest of approximately $46,000 after the deduction from gross receipts of a state tax of $5,379.95 and $25,571 to pay the balance of the $100,000 prize, leaving 30 per cent of the gross receipts, or about $30,000.

Barry Wins. Johnny Barry, Bayonne, N. J., won a judges' verdict over Juan Beiza, Chilean lightweight, in a fast six-round fight, the first preliminary to the Tommy Gibbons-Kid Norfolk 15-round match at Madison Square Garden tonight. Beiza weighed 138, Barry 135 1-4.

Tommy O'Brien, Milwaukee lightweight, won a judge's decision over

Eddie (Kid) Wagner, of Philadelphia, in a furious 10-round match. The rugged O'Brien, employing long jabs and swings, cut the Philadelphia boy badly but Wagner was game throughout and reeled his share of the fighting. O'Brien weighed 134 1-4 against 131 for Wagner.

Flowers Wins. Tiger Flowers, Atlanta negro middleweight, won from Johnny Wilson, of New York, former middleweight champion, on a technical knockout in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout when Referee Eddie Purdie stopped the fight, when it was apparent that Wilson was on the verge of a knockout and virtually helpless.

The end came within five seconds of the end of the round and was rushed to the corner and hampered by his negro opponent, unable to offer any resistance and almost helpless to defend himself. The referee called a halt. Wilson protested but the referee called Wilson's handlers and he was escorted to his corner. Each weighed 159 1-2.

ROUND ONE. They fell into a clinch at the bell. They hammered each other about the body, little damage being done. Gibbons landed a short left to the jaw as the negro moved away. The referee warned Gibbons for using a back-hand blow. Gibbons staggered Norfolk with a right, but the negro only smiled. Gibbons scored heavily with long range punches, but the negro was unharmed. Gibbons landed a beautiful right to the jaw just before the bell.

ROUND TWO. Gibbons was short with a right. They clinched. The negro was wild with a left. There was much punching at short range, but the blows were weak. Norfolk was warned for hitting low. Gibbons scored heavily with long range punches, but the negro was unharmed. Gibbons landed a beautiful right to the jaw just before the bell.

ROUND THREE. Norfolk continued his clinching tactics, until Gibbons backed away and landed a solid right to Norfolk's head. It was the best blow of the fight. Gibbons continued to play for Norfolk's bad eye, landing on the negro's head and face with a two-fisted attack. Gibbons was landing almost at will but they were not damaging punches, merely cutting blows. The referee stopped the fight when Gibbons tried to bring his punches up high—man's defense with any effectiveness.

ROUND FOUR. They met in their usual clinch, both firing rapidly in close. Gibbons landed a beautiful right to the face. He followed with a left and crossed again with his right. The negro was wild with a left. There was much punching at short range, but the blows were weak. Norfolk was warned for hitting low. Gibbons scored heavily with long range punches, but the negro was unharmed. Gibbons landed a beautiful right to the jaw just before the bell.

ROUND FIVE. Gibbons continued his relentless jabbing attack on Norfolk and then rocked him with a right to the head as he stepped back. They wrestled about the ring.

ROUND SIX. One of Norfolk's fast lefts brought blood to Gibbons' nose. The negro was boring in with Gibbons' swarming blow from the right. Gibbons' right found Norfolk's jaw. The third one floored Norfolk for a count of two just before the bell.

ROUND SEVEN. Norfolk came up strong and swapped punches with Gibbons as they met in the center of the ring. Gibbons had the negro groggy and went down flat on his face for a count.

Norfolk got up and continued to fight, but Gibbons landed solidly to the body and Norfolk went down again. The referee then stepped in and stopped the fight.

'BAMA BILLS Clay Parrish Made Captain Of 1925 Petrels at Banquet

University, Ala., December 9.—(Special.)—Games against Georgia Tech and Georgia, the former to be played in Atlanta and the latter in Birmingham, were included in the nine-game schedule for Alabama in 1925, as announced today by Coach Wallace Wade. Seven of the nine games will be against members of the southern conference. No inter-sectional clash graces the Crimson menu, although Alabama received several flattering offers from eastern and mid-western teams to journey in such directions for an early season game. These were declined so as to enable the Tide-men to meet more conference foes.

Furman, Center, Mississippi college and Ole Mississippi were dropped from the Crimson's schedule, and in their place were substituted Florida, L. S. U., Mississippi A. and M. and Birmingham-Southern.

Two-year contracts with the Macons and the Louisiana Tigers were arranged, Alabama playing in Baton Rouge this year and at Starkville, Miss., next year.

The Aggie play on the campus this year and the Tigers on the campus next year. Alabama opens against Union university on the campus September 26.

The schedule follows: September 25—Union university, campus. October 3—Birmingham-Southern, campus. October 10—Louisiana State university, Baton Rouge, La. October 17—Sewanee, Birmingham, Alabama.

October 24—Georgia Tech at Atlanta, Ga. October 31—Mississippi A. and M. at Tusculum (homecoming day). November 7—Kentucky at Birmingham. November 14—Florida at Montgomery.

November 26—University of Georgia at Birmingham (Thanksgiving). LARRY AVERA WILL MEET BROWN

Chattanooga, Tenn., December 9.—(Special.)—Larry Avera, junior welterweight of Atlanta, and Hap Brown, the Oklahoma Toronado, have been matched for an eighth round bout in the Market Street arena next Monday night, according to Matchmaker Woods, representing the Central Trades and Labor council, who has gone to considerable expense in arranging the fight.

Together two boxers who combine the inevitable characteristics of being high-class and high-priced, Avera is a junior welterweight of the lightest class and Brown has beaten 'em all at his weight in the section of the west from which he hails. Avera pleased the crowd in his exhibition bout in the Garden Tuesday night, and knocked him twitching like a headless chicken.

Gibbons won by a technical knockout in the sixth round. Norfolk was on his feet, swaying like a dynamite chimney just before the fall when he was hit by a right to the head. Gibbons stepped back to administer the finishing blow. He was wild, however, and Norfolk clinched, but the bell ended the round.

Gibbons continued his relentless jabbing attack on Norfolk and then rocked him with a right to the head as he stepped back. They wrestled about the ring.

One of Norfolk's fast lefts brought blood to Gibbons' nose. The negro was boring in with Gibbons' swarming blow from the right. Gibbons' right found Norfolk's jaw. The third one floored Norfolk for a count of two just before the bell.

ROUND SEVEN. Norfolk came up strong and swapped punches with Gibbons as they met in the center of the ring. Gibbons had the negro groggy and went down flat on his face for a count.

Norfolk got up and continued to fight, but Gibbons landed solidly to the body and Norfolk went down again. The referee then stepped in and stopped the fight.

ROUND EIGHT. Norfolk continued his clinching tactics, until Gibbons backed away and landed a solid right to Norfolk's head. It was the best blow of the fight. Gibbons continued to play for Norfolk's bad eye, landing on the negro's head and face with a two-fisted attack. Gibbons was landing almost at will but they were not damaging punches, merely cutting blows. The referee stopped the fight when Gibbons tried to bring his punches up high—man's defense with any effectiveness.

New York, December 9.—The cotton market was easier today under liquidation by recent buyers who appeared to be disappointed by the failure of yesterday's government crop estimate to have immediate stimulating effect on the cotton goods markets. January contracts broke to 22.77, a decline of 43 points from yesterday's closing quotation and 113 points from high price touched shortly after the publication of the crop figures. They closed at 22.82, or about 5 points up from the lowest, the general market closing steadily at net declines of 32 to 39 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 13 to 20 points in sympathy with relatively easy Liverpool cables. Some trade buying at the decline and a little covering was readily supplied and prices worked lower at midday under southern hedge selling, liquidation and local selling, apparently inspired by expectations of an increase in spot offerings before Christmas.

December declined to 22.62 and March to 23.10, active months generally showing net losses of 42 to 46 points in the early afternoon. There was trade buying as prices approached the 23-cent level for March, or 23 1/2 cents for May, however, and moderate rallies developed late on covering.

Stock Letters.

BENNER & BEANE.
New York, December 9.—A number of interesting cross-currents featured today's market. During the first hour the copper market, which advanced sharply under a heavy volume of transactions.

Copper, Tin, Lead and Zinc also recorded new highs for the year. The copper market is generally quiet today, but in well-informed quarters a heavy foreign demand is anticipated after the first of the year. Meanwhile, the market is under persistent pressure and sold down to a new low of 33.

Many people feel that the next statement will show earnings somewhat below expectations.

American Hide & Leather stockholders approved the new recapitalization plan. During the final hour heavy profit-taking was noticeable in the railroad group and in certain miscellaneous issues. U. S. Steel lost most of its gain after touching 118 1/2 about midday. New York Central yielded half a point and many other transportation stocks including St. Paul reacted moderately.

North American was also weak during the final hour, selling down to 41 1/2 against a recent high of 43. The closing tone was one of irregularity. American Southern, Pierce Arrow, preferred, Central Leather preferred and Anaconda showing the greatest gains for the day.

LIVINGSTON & CO.
New York, December 9.—Fresh strength developed in the industrial list in the early afternoon with Steel getting up to 118 1/2. The market was generally quiet, but strength was seen in the leather issues, several of the rubbers, the Coppers, which were particularly strong near the close, and a number of individual issues. During the strength, however, it looked as though profit taking in a good number of the low priced stocks was heavy. Before the after-noon bell rang, the market was quiet.

There was a small reaction in the afternoon. As a rule industrial closed higher.

ing rails were the ones that would lead the next movement in the carrier issues. Such stocks as Southern Railway, Missouri Pacific, Lehigh Valley, etc., were in demand, while real estate was apparently going on in issues like Federal Realty, P. O. E. Realty, etc.

JUSTICE PITNEY DIES A CAPITAL

Washington, December 9.—Former Justice Mahlon Pitney, of the supreme court, died here early today.

It occurred in the hours immediately after midnight. Justice Pitney was 66 years of age and retired from the bench because of ill health December 31, 1922.

He was known as one of the hardest working members of the supreme court and overwork was ascribed as the cause of his breakdown. The strain of a course of years resulted in an attack which totally disabled him from the discharge of his duties, and he was placed on the retired list of the court.

Although Justice Pitney has been seriously ill for many months, his immediate death was not expected and no intimation was given that his condition was any more unfavorable than it had been for some time.

The former justice had been residing in his home here since his retirement from the bench.

MYSTERY WOMAN GOES TO NEW YORK HOME

Columbus, Ga., December 9.—Clyde White, brother-in-law of Miss Mary Smith, Columbus mystery woman, arrived here today from Danville, N. Y., and tomorrow morning the two will return home.

When White arrived at the local institution the patient, who for the past month has baffled police and hospital authorities by her strange conduct, immediately recognized him and was almost overcome with emotion.

The identity of the woman was positively established Monday following communication with relatives whose names were furnished authorities by the mystifying patient.

Relatives had not heard from the woman for six weeks, the brother-in-law said tonight. At that time she was employed in an Elmyra (N. Y.) hotel, but quit to return home.

The woman said tonight she remembers having purchased a ticket to her home but after that her memory failed her. She is anxious to return to her home.

White brought a picture of Miss Smith made before her mysterious disappearance. At the time the picture was made the woman had long hair, while now it is worn bobbed. He was at a loss to understand the strange facts surrounding the woman's perplexing case. She had never had any illness which might have caused her to become mentally deranged, he said.

COOLIDGE TO OPPOSE PORK-BARREL BILLS

Washington, December 9.—President Coolidge will throw the weight of his influence against any "pork barrel" bills and harbor legislation that may be proposed in congress.

The president would accept a measure carrying appropriations for the more important projects, but would not approve legislation carrying many of the minor items which have come forward.

A bill now pending in the house carries $33,000,000 for waterways and the president would not approve that amount.

WRONG PICTURE USED IN SUNDAY ARTICLE

As the result of an error in filing photographs a picture of Mrs. Hugh Harris, of Emory university, appeared in Sunday's Constitution as that of Dr. Elizabeth Broach, well-known physician. The photographs of Mrs. Harris and Dr. Broach were published together some months ago, and the wrong picture was secured from the files in connection with last Sunday's article.

Today has reflected tendency to discredit accuracy of yesterday's government estimate in view of the large increase in cotton from domestic spinners which were recorded in certain quarters as indicating a crop to be better than the estimate. The selling movement has included replanting of some lines covered before the bureau, selling by discouraged longer who bought on the bureau estimate, and scattered southern bode offerings. Inasmuch as no material broadening of the demand for goods or actual cotton is anticipated until after the year and inventory period, prices seem likely to drift somewhat lower, but with the market becoming well purged of long lines and the speculative short account gradually increased and with contracts rising steadily into the hands of the trade, a strong statistical position is developing and we are disposed to believe that with the prospective broadening of the demand for goods as well as actual cotton from domestic spinners a gradual recovery of cotton is relative to its comparison with other commodities, and it is only a question of time when it will respond to the strong underlying conditions.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.
New York, December 9.—Cables this morning were lower than due, partly owing to rather advance in sterling exchange and partly owing to some labor trouble in the mill on a technical point, which led to rumors of a lockout. Here the sentiment is still predominantly bearish and the market declined to the low levels reached before the publication of the estimate yesterday. A considerable addition has been made to the speculative short interest, but on the other hand the trade is not an active buyer at the moment. This is partly due to the usual inventory taking and pre-holiday dullness in the wholesale trade, while the retailers at the same time are busy with the Christmas shopping. Exports continue on a large scale so that there is no real pressure from the south, although a good deal of cotton has been bought on the estimate yesterday was resold today on the basis of a very large demand. This is just the kind of a market which thoroughly demoralizes the professional elements, and the estimate demand, and are not interested, therefore, in the steady passing of cotton out of sight. Spinners' desire to date is very large and a good deal of this crop has been moved off the market. The price level moved off the market. The price level moved off the market. The price level moved off the market.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.
New York, December 9.—The selling wave which was under way in yesterday's market at the close continued this morning until lowest prices were made. There was practically no rallying power to be seen, although trade demand was again uncovered on the weakness and this steadied prices. Yesterday afternoon and today sentiment turned increasingly toward the market's low bid on weakness, which is a perfectly natural thing as cotton is worth the money to the mills at current quotations. Under such circumstances purchases made on weakness are not advisable. Liverpool, January, 12.65.

The Spirit of CHRISTMAS

THE Spirit of Christmas is a difficult thing to analyze or define. It is too deeply rooted in the hearts of people—too firmly imbedded in tradition to be questioned or doubted. It has lived through disasters, wars, revolutions, pestilence—it will endure as long as the world endures. And, since the gift-laden Wise Men of the East followed the Star, the outward manifestation of the Spirit of Christmas has been the giving of gifts.

This Spirit is not necessarily confined to individuals. It may inspire a business organization as well—and this institution is so inspired. We, too, are anxious to give. Our gifts to you are the most efficient and willing service that is humanly possible, friendly helpfulness, tireless courtesy and the finest of furniture at the smallest possible cost. We are anxious to give more than can rightfully be expected of any store—and your first visit will convince you that here, indeed, is a store that is filled with the Spirit of Christmas.

She had just returned from the barbershop, where she had exchanged her heavy tresses for a shingle.

"I simply could not stand the weight of all that hair on my head another day," she explained to her angry husband.

"I always thought your head was weak," was his only comment.

The prisoner was not professionally represented. Before proceeding with the case, the judge said:

"This is a very serious offense you are charged with. If you are convicted it means a long term of imprisonment."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Bloomer Suggestion.
A splendid crotch seam for the little girl's bloomers is made by opening an ordinary seam and sewing it flat with bias binding. There is a certain amount to "give" to it that makes for comfort.

Hem Making.
A piece of cardboard the exact width of the hem and about six or seven inches long is convenient as a marker when making hems. Start the hem and then insert cardboard, slipping it along as the hem progresses. This will insure hems of exact width and prove a big time-saver.

Housekeeping Reminders.
Very fine lace may be stiffened by dipping into skimmed milk.

Lemon juice in strong clear tea or coffee will frequently cure a nervous headache.

No kitchen is complete without one of those broad-bladed spatulas in the dresser drawer.

Never crease the cuffs of coat shirts with the iron, as it will cause them to wear out quicker.

FARMERS OF CHARLTON PLANT MUCH TOBACCO

Folkston, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—The board of trade of Charlton county is putting new life in their organization by meeting twice a month with a luncheon. Next Tuesday their annual election of officers will be held and a program mapped out for work in the new year. They are backing the planting of golden leaf tobacco as well as diversified crops, and are assisting land owners to buy bays.

Last year's experience with the tobacco crop was a splendid success and another big crop will be planted the coming season.

AND Louise Dooly

MUSIC always makes me sentimental. Music and children. All good music, and some bad children. So, when Fritz Reiner and his Cincinnati band play for the children of Atlanta next Thursday at the Auditorium, I should like immensely to be one of those grown folks present, who like taking the children to the circus, borrow some of the neighbor's as an excuse for being there.

I WASN'T much older than some of the young folks who will hear the children's matinee the Music club is putting on, when I experienced my first symphony orchestra concert. Observe—I say experienced, not merely heard—for that music, when the orchestra played the Tchaikovsky 1812 overture, did not come crashing upon my ears alone; nor did the lovely Bach air for strings which preceded it, soothe only my sense of hearing.

The whole youthful being of me was enveloped by it. I think I'd almost be willing to erase the memory of all I have heard since then, to have again that first experience of great music, greatly played.

THAT'S why I should like to be a sort of Pied Piper next Thursday, and pipe all the boys and girls from every part of Atlanta to Courtland and Gilmer streets, and watch them while they tingle all over to Schubert's Marche Militaire, an opening piece, as young and fresh and on tip-toe as themselves.

No, quite true. They won't all take it like that.

But as far as that goes, I've heard of children so queer they cried for castor oil. And so for the sake of the many who would find it the joy of a lifetime, as I did, it seems to me it would be worth-while wasting treasure on the few who hear only with their ears, whose imagination would picture nothing but horns and fiddles when the air is filled with the "Waltz of the Flowers" and "The Dance of the Mirlitons," and who would question why William Tell did not use a poison instead of a bow and arrow to shoot the apple off.

ATLANTA, by the way, has a sort of responsibility about this children's concert of the Cincinnati orchestra, outside of what it owes the children.

Having all the children go is really a matter of noblesse oblige. As it has many times been recalled in the press, the enterprise of the Atlanta Music club in securing for Atlanta juniors a special concert for children on one of the first visits of the Cincinnati orchestra some years ago, first put the idea into Cincinnati's head that Cincinnati, with all its love for music and support of it, was overlooking a tremendous factor in Cincinnati's music.

It failed to provide this same opportunity for Cincinnati's boys and girls. As far as I know, then, Atlanta was the first city after New York (for Walter Damrosch inaugurated orchestra recitals for young folks long before) to establish the custom of symphony concerts especially for children. Cincinnati, although it fostered the orchestra, got its queue, therefore, not from Damrosch and the New York symphony, but from Atlanta.

That's why I say of a proper patronage for next week's orchestra matinee—noblesse oblige.

WHY not show children what great music is?

Why not open up to them its great literature?

Why not hold out its heroic figures for their emulation?

Why not help them to build up a pride in ideals and heroes worth being proud of?

Need all the heroes of boyhood be sons of swart or leather pushers?

The wizard fingered wielders of the cat-gut bow, fair-haired tenors of the opera and temperamental Apollos of the concert stage made as good, if not a better showing in the late human war, than did the most eminent of the cauliflower profession.

AS for those who measure even art and its influence in dollars and cents—

My word! did you notice the income tax figures of that "impractical group," the musicians?

Why, not a few of them were shown by Uncle Sam to be paying him an annual stipend on their holdings which went up into mighty millions of figures.

Now what'd you think of that?

Music actually pays the musician. Of course all musicians don't get rich. But neither do all bankers.

IT'S an awfully good rule which obtains in Atlanta that no tickets should be sold in the public schools.

But, as I remarked at the start, I am a sentimentalist where music and children are concerned.

And if I owned Atlanta, I'd almost be tempted to set aside rules under some circumstances, such as war and symphony concerts.

However—children do read the papers.

Picture puzzles and prize contests prove that.

Doubtless the Music club is quite aware of it.

We see by the papers, in fact, that the club is acting on that circumstance, and with the cooperation of its good friends, neglected for years, schools and classes having the best attendance.

This will work in excellently, since the prizes take the form of tape machines and records, which fact dovetails in with the lessons in appreciation the children are having through their music memory contests.

Appreciation is every bit as important as actual musical performance.

It is not necessary that every child should become a musician.

In fact, heaven forbid!

But every child's opportunity for fullness of life and its best thrills is actually being neglected when the child misses knowing how to experience music.

It's our own fault, as grown people, if boys and girls grow up with music in their hearts. They will indeed be suited only for "stratagems and spoils."

Over 100 members of Atlanta's social contingent called during the afternoon.

Miss Poole To Entertain at Tea.

Invitations have been issued to a tea to be given Saturday, December 20, from 4 to 6 o'clock by Miss Gray Poole, who will return home from the Finch school in New York, to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Poole, on Ponce de Leon avenue.

BLIND MAN SHOTS INTRUDER IN HOME; FELT HIS PRESENCE

Savannah, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Eugene Dixon is in a hospital here today with a hole through his right lung and in a precarious condition from a shot fired by Sam Hunter, who is totally blind. Hunter declared he heard somebody in his house, felt for his gun, got up and started into a hall, and there "felt" the presence of somebody and fired. After the noise and the scuffle, Dixon was found on the ground outside the building.

Police believe Dixon was attempting to burglarize the house. Hunter is a beggar by trade.

PLANT TO MAKE PAPER OPENS AT DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Establishing a plant here with unlimited pine stumps for material, the United States Turpentine company, offered by Georgians, has begun making turpentine and kraft paper out of a once worthless product.

After the turpentine is extracted from the stumps a pulp that is left is converted into kraft paper. So far the mill has confined its operations to the manufacture of turpentine, but the experiment of making paper proved successful and both turpentine and paper will be manufactured.

Tobacco growers in the neighborhood of the plant, in clearing their land, have received enough for their top wood and stumps at the mill to reimburse them for the cost of clearing and stumping. It is stated by officials of the turpentine plant.

The mill pays from five to six dollars a cord when the wood is delivered. Each acre of land is said to average from seven to fifteen cords. Five hundred gallons of turpentine have been turned out each day since the

MY BEAUTY RECIPE

BY PEGGY WOOD, as Told to Diana Dare

"If music be the food of love, play on," the great Shakespeare said. I would say the same thing and also, "If music be the food of beauty, play on." I think music is the greatest aid to beauty," explained Peggy Wood, of musical note.

"The reason we all aren't beautiful is because our faces are too tense or too stretched or too 'dragged down.' Music relaxes. It lets our muscles and features rest where they should. Close your eyes and listen to music. It sends a fairy fresh and cooling touch over us—like nature sends the morning dew. Feel it creep over your face, run into your tired eyes, moisten your lips, seep into your flesh. Open your eyes. You feel rested and better.

"I used to be very shy. Standing up and singing by myself taught me to get over this. It also awakened me to my personality, and to what personality means to every one.

"We are all music boxes. We have strains and melodies in us that are handed down to us from our ancestors. Usually we think we should just sound one key in our lives, be one sort of person. That is what makes life ugly and dull. Back in our ancestry maybe there was a shoemaker, a pirate, a merchant, a preacher, teacher, a beggar, a poet. And all the melodies of these lives are handed down to us and preserved, all of them, in us.

"Music is what awakens these beautiful different notes in us. Music is the treasure box of the ages.

"Music brings us to our rightful personality, colored because of what has gone before us. We gain confidence in ourselves when we feel the richness and variety that is in our background. We begin to see that life isn't in one monotonous key, that we don't have to play life in one tune; that we have the varied moods and interpretations of life stored in us waiting for their keynotes: jazz, sonatas, hymns, rhapsodies, jazz!

"Oh, music is wonderful! If you aren't a musician you can still have, by listening to music, this opening up to beauty."

Atlanta Girl Hurt In Airplane Crash Reported Improving

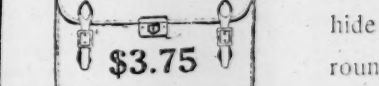

Reports received Tuesday night from the bedside of Miss Ellie Callaway, Atlanta girl who was severely injured Saturday afternoon when struck on the head by an airplane propeller at Daytona Beach, Fla., indicate that she will recover if no complications set in.

Miss Callaway is employed by an insurance company of this city and went to Florida about ten days ago on a vacation trip. She was accompanied by her mother.

Callaway, of 24 Delaware avenue, Ormeau park, mother of the injured girl, wired Atlanta friends Tuesday to this effect. The young woman was struck by the propeller when she walked in front of the plane after completing a flight, according to reports.

Miss Callaway is employed by an insurance company of this city and went to Florida about ten days ago on a vacation trip. She was accompanied by her mother.

Fulton County Commission Opposed to Further Change In Salaries of Officials

Practically All Members of Board Express Themselves as Feeling That Question Closed One.

Indications Tuesday were that the salaries of Fulton county minor officials would not be cut. Edwin F. Johnson, chairman of the county commission, declared that he was opposed to any move to slash salaries, stating that the proposed lists should stand as approved. And practically all members of the commission expressed themselves as feeling that the question should not be reopened.

Commissioner Johnson declared Tuesday night he felt that the heads of the various offices were in a better position than anyone else to know what compensation their employees should receive for their services. The officials were elected by the people, and the people should have confidence in them, Commissioner Johnson pointed out.

Thinks Salaries Just.
"The schedules were submitted to the commission, and any points which were not clear were explained," Mr. Johnson said. "I feel that the salaries are just, or that they would not have been asked for by the officers. Personally I am opposed to any effort to reopen the salary question."

In speaking of the action of the special commission of grand jurors, which voted the list of salaries prepared for the employees of the solicitor general's office, Commissioner Paul Etheridge declared that the commission had no "veto power."

"What we do is submitted to the commission for approval," Mr. Etheridge said. "But because they do not approve, the law does not provide them with authority to override our action. Unless I see some very good reason for reopening the salary question, I will vote emphatically against such a procedure."

To Meet This Week.
Since the last meeting, at which all salary lists were completed, with the exception of that of the clerk of superior court's office, the commissioners have not met in a body. A meeting is scheduled for the latter part of this week, however, at which the question will be discussed. Until that time it is not expected that any definite announcement regarding the situation will be forthcoming.

Reductions in the salaries of some employees of the county commission amounting to as much as 25 per cent resulted from a meeting of the special commission of grand jurors recently. Ivan E. Allen, member of the commission, declared that the salaries fixed by the commission were entirely too high. A new list was prepared, which will be presented to the county com-

Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra To Arrive Here Thursday Morning

The Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, which will give two concerts—afternoon and night—on December 11, under the auspices of the Atlanta Music club, will arrive here Thursday morning.

Because of the tremendous expense of transporting so large an organization, the "jumps" must be short and concerts played on consecutive days. The orchestra, conducted by Fritz Reiner, comes to Atlanta from Gainesville after giving two performances on Wednesday in that city, and goes from here to Chattanooga where it is scheduled to play on Friday.

The orchestra is in wonderful condition, according to reports received from cities where it has played, recent additions having greatly improved the quality of the wind sections, particularly. Everywhere since the beginning of the tour there have been capacity houses and great enthusiasm.

Seats are on sale at the Cable Piano company. At matinees the price is 25 cents for children and college students, and $1 for adults. Night prices range from $1 to $2.50, according to location of seats. Balcony $1.

'TAXATION' LECTURE GIVEN BY MISS RAOUL

"Taxation" was the subject of an instructive address Tuesday night by Miss Eleanor Raoul, of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, at the Y. W. C. A., 19 West Baker street.

The talk was the seventh of a series of educational lectures and civic programs sponsored by the League of Business and Professional Women of the Y. W. C. A. and the Business Women's division of the League of Women Voters, and will be the last until after the Christmas holidays.

At her next meeting, it was announced. Attorney George Spence, who led in the fight to abolish the fee system last spring, Tuesday attacked the county commission, describing their work in fixing the salaries as a "piece of brazen effrontery which should not go unchallenged."

Mr. Spence declared that the "very object of the change from the fee system to the salary system was to effect a saving and permit the taxpayers to get the benefit of the saving."

"Instead," Mr. Spence declared, "the commissioners have fixed salaries out of all decent proportions to the value of the service to be performed, or any other basis which could be considered fair."

WILBUR STRESSES NAVAL WEAKNESS

Washington, December 9.—Reconditioning of older battleships to keep them in fighting trim and inauguration of a continuing building program for auxiliary craft based on similar construction undertaken by other naval powers was the program outlined by Secretary Wilbur to the House subcommittee on naval appropriations as necessary to reestablish and maintain the navy at the 5-5-3 ratio provided for by the Washington naval limitation treaty.

The secretary's statement, which was made to the committee yesterday, was prepared in response to a request from Chairman French for a detailed statement showing "in just what way we have retrogressed" from the treaty ratio and what steps were necessary to "restore and maintain the navy at the treaty ratio."

With the statement, Secretary Wilbur presented recommendations of the general board for a continuing building program in light cruisers, fleet submarines and other auxiliary, naval craft, and data as to the present status of other navies. The explanatory statement was made public tonight by Mr. Wilbur under an agreement with Representative French, did not include either the board's building program or the foreign navy data.

Is Gable With Fate.
The question of modernization of many battleships of the fleet was dealt with at length in the statement, with particular stress on the six ships which need new boilers to bring them back to normal speed.

"To postpone the modernization of these ships is to gamble upon the chances of war during the next ten years and to increase the possibility of such war by that degree of unpreparedness," Mr. Wilbur declared.

He pointed out that the program, which has not reached the committee for its consideration and involves possible international action, was deferred by the secretary. It is known, however, that he feels the same arguments apply for prompt work on increasing gun ranges as he presented to support the modernization program with respect to increasing deck protection against air bombs and adding "blister" protection against torpedoes and mines.

Forecasts Probe Results.
Mr. Wilbur to some extent forecast the findings of the special naval committee, which he said would be appointed at the direction of President Coolidge to consider relative values of aircraft, submarines and battleships.

"It is absurd to contend that either the aerial bomb or submarine torpedo furnished the effective answer to the capital ship," Mr. Wilbur told the committee, "for to be a capital ship it is essential that it be constructed to resist the new forms of attack."

"Whenever the submarine torpedo or the aerial bomb become a greater source of danger to a capital ship than gunfire, its arm and armament should be reconstructed to meet the new menace. In the meantime, the blister and increased deck protection are the most effective means of protecting the hull of the capital ship against damage from hits by these weapons."

Competition in Auxiliaries.
As to necessary construction of cruisers and other auxiliary craft to maintain the fleet at treaty ratio, Mr. Wilbur declared there was no competition building with other powers, in view of the fact that "enormous expansion" in such craft by any power "would have the effect of destroying that ratio."

"It is obvious," Mr. Wilbur added, "that an agreement limiting within reasonable bounds the exercise of the right (of auxiliary construction) not limited by the treaty) would be desirable for all powers concerned. Until such international agreement is entered into, the only method of maintaining the treaty ratio of our respective fleets will be by a building program commensurate with that of the other signatory powers. In such case the very absence of an agreement with reference to such vessels makes our policy dependent upon that of other powers and these powers by the expansion of their navy can virtually determine the extent to which we must build up our fleet if we are to maintain the ratio."

COOLIDGE EXTENDS LEAVE TO BUTLER

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, December 9.—The city of Philadelphia was given permission by President Coolidge today to retain Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler, of the United States Marine corps, as its director of public safety for another year, but was reminded that "local self-government cannot be furnished to the outside."

"The people of your city and your state are the only ones who are responsible for the conduct of their own municipal affairs," the president informed Mayor Kendrick, who had requested a three-year extension of the leave of absence given General Butler.

The president granted the extension of leave on condition that the federal government and especially the white house be in no wise held responsible for the conduct of his office or his relationship with the office of mayor.

Precedent Is Bad.
"The practice of detaining officers of the United States military forces to serve in civil capacities in the different states on leaves of absence is of doubtful propriety and should be ended only in cases of emergency. I am well aware of the difficulty in getting seasoned and experienced men to take positions of public trust, and fully understand your disinclination to undertake to make a change."

"I have decided to permit General Butler to have leave of absence until January, 1926, so far as I have authority to grant. But it does not seem reasonable to suppose that an emergency exists in your city which would be of a duration of over two years, and I, therefore, have to advise you that leave of absence should not again be requested."

Washes Hands of Butler.
"Another condition must be attached to this leave which I shall be inclined to insist upon at all times. The United States government, and especially the presidential office, has and can assume no responsibility for the policies of the city of Philadelphia, under your state and municipal ordinances. On several occasions it has appeared to me that because General Butler was there, some of our misinformed citizens have assumed that in some way I was responsible for the conduct of his office and his relationship with the office of mayor. I do not suppose you can prevent complaints being made to me, but I wish to give notice in advance that I can take no action on such complaints and I shall refuse to be involved in any controversy respecting the discharge of the duties of General Butler as a police officer of your city."

"The people of your city and your state are the only ones who are responsible for the conduct of their own municipal affairs. Of course you have the sympathy and the full moral support of the national government in maintaining law and order at all times. But local self-government cannot be furnished to the outside, and it is a most important possession."

"If those of you who are interested are not content to take General Butler 'ex-Washington,' I suggest you release him."

FILLING STATION
LOOTED OF $100
BY TWO BANDITS

Bandits, who first forced W. H. Banks, manager of the Wofford Oil company filling station at Campbellton road and Lee street, to surrender the keys of the establishment Tuesday morning, robbed the cash register and fled with the contents—more than $100.

Mr. Banks, who was preparing to close his place of business, was covered by two well-dressed bandits and compelled to give up the keys to the doors. The men then entered the filling station, robbed the register and departed in an automobile.

'BRIDE OF SORROW' TO RECEIVE $8,000 ANNUALLY BY WILL

Chicago, December 9.—The McClintock millions, now termed the fatal fortune, go into new hands by the will of William M. McClintock, the millionaire oilman, made public today. Miss Isabelle Pope, McClintock's fiancée, who was ready to marry him in the hospital in response to his wish as death approached, receives an income of $8,000 a year.

The remainder of the estate, originally estimated at $3,000,000, and which has greatly increased—some estimates now placing it at $5,000,000 or $6,000,000—is left to McClintock's foster father, William D. Shepherd, an attorney.

In making the bequest to his fiancée, the will states:

"I make this bequest as a token of the love and affection I have for her, and as proper protection for her until such time as our marriage shall be consummated."

APPEAL IS SOUNDED BY MACCABEE HEAD

The annual Christmas message of State Commander R. E. Leatherman of Georgia Maccabees, in addition to the usual season's wishes, carries an appeal to members to center activities around ending the year with the highest net gain in membership in the history of the state. An addition of 200 members will enable Georgia to function as a state unit, it is pointed out, having authority to hold state conventions, to elect state officials and to demand from the order's surplus a greater amount of money to be invested in Georgia securities.

The two Atlanta tents, No. 18 and the Palestine tent, will hold a joint class initiation on Thursday night at the Maccabee temple, when more than two-score new men will be added, it is said. Other members of the state are responding to the call, according to state headquarters, by announcing special class initiations before the expiration of the present year.

The caravan movement is taking firm root in many Georgia cities, according to M. D. Gleason, former state commander, who has been named traffic director general for the south to handle the motorcade to the Washington convention next year. Mr. Gleason spent two days in Savannah last week, the caravan movement and the proposed maritime exposition in 1926 forming the topic for an address he made to a gathering of representative Savannahans. Practically every civic organization in Savannah is interested now in the proposed exposition, it is said, and will send two-score automobiles in the Washington motorcade to advertise the project.

Visits to Florida, Alabama, sections of South Carolina and other nearby states will be made by Mr. Gleason, he said, during the coming few weeks.

SYNOPSIS.

Palmyra Tree, on board the Yacht Rainbow, which is leaving the California coast for the South Sea, is startled to see a black hand with a black face mitt on it thrust through her porthole window. Palmyra Tree is loved by two men, John Thurston and Van Buren Rutter. She is not certain which she loves. Palmyra determines to marry the owner of that sinister hand, but tells no one her purpose. She discovers Ponape Burke, who confesses he is a smuggler of coolies and opium. Burke permits her a glimpse of a savage brown man, Olive, hiding with him. Palmyra does the savage brown man a good turn. The girl gradually convinces herself she is in love with Van Buren Rutter. Burke and Olive leave on the Honolulu and Palmyra's engagement to Van Buren is announced. The yacht Rainbow is wrecked. The party lands on an uninhabited island, faced with starvation. Ponape Burke appears on the Pigeon of Noah and promises to rescue them.

boys stood ready to carry his master out. But Capt. Kidder hesitated, as if pondering some suggestion. Now, however, Palmyra, unable to satisfy a youthfully poignant curiosity at long distance through her binoculars, spoke up eagerly.

"O, Capt. Burke, do please take me with you. I'd just love to be first aboard."

"Me, too," cried Constance.

The man was pleased, flattered. "I was just going to mention to Mrs. Crawford," he said, "that some lady ought to scout out and tell the others what sort of quarters I get ready for. But"—he hesitated awkwardly—"the boat's heavy loaded and there won't be no room aboard while we're taking cargo. So I better only invite one this trip." He winked at Thurston. "And Miss Tree, she asked first, and, seeing as how she was the best student I had for my South Sea lectures, seems as if she had ought to be first 'lay aboard a genuine South Sea trader."

Thurston acquiesced. But as Burke was being carried down to the boats John turned to Johannsen, acting mate, and said, "You yourself be one of our three men to go aboard and—stay."

The big sailor gave him a look to see if the order had had more than routine significance, then lumbered after Burke.

In the boat the girl's mind was gradually brought back to the something in Capt. Kidder's manner which she had not been able to analyze. For now it was so noticeably upon him that he was either constrained, absent, or too painstakingly voluble.

"And how is Olive?" she asked in an awkward interval. "He's with you, of course?"

Ponape Burke assented. "Sort of in charge aboard," he explained. "I ain't got a mate. Still taking about you; yer name and yer—red hair."

The motor in the launch ahead had been working badly. Now it stopped. Beyond the reef the Pigeon of Noah waited, her nose into the wind, her copper flashing in the sun as the black hull rose and fell.

Burke stood up in the boat to wave a signal with his cap to the kanakas aboard. As he raised his arm, the starched fabric of the coat was pulled away from his body and the wind caught it out. The girl was startled to discover a heavy revolver hidden in a holster against the man's side under the arm.

He was immediately aware of her discovery. As the launch hauled ahead, stopped, then went on under oars, he explained, "Fact is, Miss Tree, my life wouldn't be worth a dime if them devils aboard ever got me unarmed. I ain't no husky brute like what I ought to be. Can't take a chance with 'em."

There was that in his manner which did not convince. She wondered if he could have been drinking. Again came the ugly suspicion that he was elated at some idea of turning their misfortune to his financial advantage.

She glanced at him uneasily. As they sat, side by side, the big, shining, semi-circular scar on his forehead was close. She looked away toward the schooner and, presently, back again. He had shifted his cap to cover the scar.

At this discovery—so significant may small actions sometimes become—the blood mounted into her cheeks. For here, at last, was enlightenment. The man was concerned with his personal appearance! Surely their stations in life were so different—but, perhaps . . . yes, seemingly now, she must, on the Rainbow, have been too friendly.

With disturbing clearness there flashed upon the screen or recollection his tribute to the power of beauty such as hers on the island wanderer. Why had she never before thought of a personal application?

It struck her also for the first time that, when he had come running up the beach to her rescue, it was as if he saw only her. And he'd shaken hands with an eagerness that vaguely troubled her then—troubled her more greatly now.

She was not a vain girl. But there seemed no escaping the conclusion. Absurdly, Ponape Burke had achieved an infatuation for her. Astern, her people were far away. Ahead, the schooner no longer attracted her. She was angry to discover that her eager demand for this passage out had assumed been no more than a response to the man's calculated purpose of suggestion.

She was all at once vaguely afraid alone. A glance at big Johannsen and the other two white men in the launch should have reassured. But she was thinking it would have been much better had the rescue come from some other vessel.

The Pigeon of Noah, looming at last above the boat, seemed surprisingly large, her masts reaching up to trace eccentric figures against the sky. From her flattened sails came a flurry of slapping reef points, and about her deck scurried brown figures uttering sounds shrill, guttural, strange.

The boat rounded the stern, and then the girl looked up to find—as if his eyes had never ceased to follow—the grinning stare of the man Olive fixed upon her just as it had faded out at Honolulu.

For an instant Palmyra, unsuspectingly tense under the recent clang of circumstances, on edge with the immediate shock of revelation concerning Ponape Burke, saw that mask much as it had first leaped out at her under the flare of her torch.

She sprang up, as if with some childish purpose to clutch the white man for protection. Then, after a moment, she managed a welcoming smile, though she could not keep her self from suspecting this leering figurehead of mirth of a diabolical satisfaction at the wreck. In her new conviction about the master she remembered his man's finger ring and its possible significance. If Burke, who had never shown any sign, had become enamored, what of this creature whose eyes had ever devoured her?

As she stood, comparing herself to a little frog, fascinated, helpless under the eyes of a serpent, Olive's great naked body rose above the rail and a thick, bare arm came extending itself down toward her, inexorably. As the froglet might, when the fanged mouth was close, make one feeble effort to escape, so now she tried to step backward, threw out her hand to regain a balance, and—was caught. The square fingers closed and her own hand was swallowed, disappeared in that grip clear to the wrist. There came a pull, as if the arm were to follow the hand in, and then Palmyra found herself on deck and standing free.

The master of the Lupe-a-Noa was still in the boat, looking shoreward. Presently he swept the sails with critical eye, glanced at the girl, and then sprang aboard with some native sentence to his man.

Johannsen had already clambered to the deck.

"We got to keep four boats moving," Burke explained. "One pulling ashore empty, one loading there, one coming out with cargo, one discharging here. Each of 'em boat's crew'll bring me a load and take back an empty at once. I'll clear the boat at leave. So now, you Rainbow boys, I start her off, pass up the stuff in my own boat and take her ashore, while my kanakas tackle the launch."

LITTLE ERNEST'S ESSAY. Consequences. Everything you do has a least one consequence, and some things have a lot, such as sassing your teacher back.

Everybody knows the consequences of setting on a tack, and therefore people seldom do it if they know what is happening at the time, and one of the most useless things you can do is to tell somebody else to go and set on one.

Some consequences are different from what you expect, such as when you fite a fellow because you are sure you can lick him and he licks you instead, or when you fite a fellow that can lick you because you can't get out of it, and then lick him, but that mite not happen more than once in a life time and even then not to you. The consequences of some things are never known by the people that do them, such as falling off of a roof.

Ways and Means. He had proposed and been accepted. After they grew coherent again they began discussing ways and means.

"Will my poor salary buy your hats, my sweet one?" he asked. "I'll make it do," she answered bravely. —Florence Woodward.

THE EDITOR'S GOSSIP SHOP

LITTLE ERNEST'S ESSAY, which made its first appearance last week, scored a great success. So great was the applause that we may soon offer, regularly, two essays a week. In addition to today's, the next will appear Saturday.

As we have told you, LITTLE ERNEST will welcome suggestions for his essays. He has met Dr. Traprock and Dr. Baldpate, but we are keeping him away from he two explorers, lest association with them will give him a certain sophistication.

LITTLE ERNEST, by all means, must always remain a youth, must be our "Peter Pan."

AMUSEMENTS

"Lasses" White Minstrels.

(At the Atlanta Theater.)
That prize of black-face comedians, "Lasses" White, accompanied by his four star minstrels, will bring their fifth annual appearance here to a close at the Atlanta theater today with matinee and night performances. Wherever seen this season it has been the verdict that "Lasses" and his associates have succeeded in crowding in more real fun, music and dancing, to their entertainment than has ever been before in a single minstrel offering, and this opinion has been confirmed by local theatergoers. "Lasses" is even more drolly humorous than last season, if such a thing be possible.

"An Exciting Night."

(At the Lyric.)
A series of spectacular chorus numbers in which catchy melodies are set in gorgeous costumes and beautiful lighting of many colors is added to a new air of lavishment in this week's production by the Loie Bridge Players. Musical Comedy company. Loie Bridge has an odd comedy number, working with several of the principals in stead of with the chorus. It is a singing story of a laugh at each performance. Francis Weldon's and the chorus girls' dancing is attractive, and little Della Sullivan's dance, as the entertainment "Lasses" is very nearly doubling the show at each performance.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At Loew's Grand.)
Jimmie Gilda and his company of four girls and men are scoring a big hit in "The Great Lover," a musical farce that headlines the bill of vaudeville at Loew's Grand theater this week. It is a travesty on the gothic and silver seas and oddities collected on his long trips.

The Only Woman.

(At the Metropolitan.)
"The Only Woman" is Norma Tallmadge's first photoplay since "Severed." It was produced by Joseph M. Schenck for release by First National. The story is one of a girl who marries a man she hates in order to save her father from disgrace. Aside from the heart interest, the picture presents some of the most vivid and thrilling shipwreck scenes ever screened.

CRIPPLE FINISHING LAST LAP ON TOUR OF 40,000 MILES

The signature Tuesday of Governor Clifford Walker added to his long list, brings Grover Cleveland Cariker, of Alexandria, La., to the last lap of a walking tour of more than 40,000 miles extending over four years. Cariker is a cripple, having been stricken with paralysis in South America ten years ago. He travels in crutches. Only three states—Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana—remain ahead for the record walker, who averages 25 miles a day.

"I have been on the road for me health for 47 months and four days," Cariker said. "I started at Houston, Texas, and when I have completed my tour into Florida, shall turn home, a cripple, to be there by February 20, 1925. I feel fine, and could do it all over again."

Sugar-Coated Shells Fall And All Atlanta Surrenders

"DOUG" DAVIS AND HIS SHIP OF SWEETS.

Atlanta was bombarded from the air Tuesday. The city didn't fall to the invaders. But the invader's sugar-coated shells fell to the city.

An aeroplane, piloted by D. H. ("Doug") Davis, flew over the city between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock, dropping miniature parachutes, and to the end of each was attached a "Baby Ruth" candy bar.

The Davis company is launching an extensive campaign throughout the state to introduce its 5-cent candy bar, his sensational flying with the Mabel Cody flying circus. But the item that is of far greater importance than that is the fact that he is an Atlanta boy.

In his new connection with the Curtis Candy company, of Chicago, Davis will cover the entire south—touching all of the principal cities in his advertising venture. His exhibition of Tuesday will be repeated today and Thursday, at the same time, for the benefit of those who had not been forewarned.

Rumors of Students Punished For Failure to Deposit Money In School Banks Branded False

Name of Bernard Mallon for Girls' Senior High School Retained by Vote of 5 to 4.

Reports that students of Atlanta schools had been punished for failure to deposit funds regularly under the banking system in effect through the schools were branded as false in a report of a special committee of the board of education, made to the board at the December meeting Tuesday.

With the report was presented a written affidavit from the mother of one of the children who was alleged to have been punished. The affidavit denied the child had been kept from school hours or otherwise punished for failure to make deposits, and also denied knowledge of the foundation of such a report.

The original reports, brought to attention of the school board some time ago, created a furor among members, who threatened to abolish the entire banking system if allegations were found to be correct.

Retained by Close Vote. The board voted to retain the name of Bernard Mallon senior high school for girls for the new building on Kossuth street by a vote of 5 to 4. A. C. Meixell, W. C. Slater, Mrs. Z. B. Peterson, and C. J. McLendon, requesting to be excused from voting, were the only members who voted against the action and make the school known as the senior high school for girls.

On the motion of Dr. Eulanks, the question of purchasing the entire lot and a bell system in the new building was referred to the purchasing committee of the board, with power to act. It was explained that no provision had been made for clocks and that such equipment is an absolute necessity for efficient operation of the school.

Will Carry Out Spirit. Receipt was acknowledged of a resolution passed by city council, recommending that a fund be set aside at the beginning of the year for the salaries of the city clerk and treasurer. A resolution was adopted, assuring council that so far as is possible, the spirit of the councilmanic resolution will be carried out.

Council will be asked for special appropriations to provide an additional unit for the Hoke Smith Junior High school, and also for additional housing facilities for the Goldsmith school. The situation at the junior high school will be even more acute next September than it is at present, members of the board said, as facilities will be inadequate to house a large number of students who will enter the high school by graduation from grammar schools.

Has No Kindergarten. At the Goldsmith school, it was pointed out, no kindergarten ever has been established, and all attempts to find space in which to locate the kindergarten have been futile. (Continued on page 2.)

Actual attendance figures for November school year in senior high schools, 5,472 in junior high schools, 20,880 in grammar schools; 1,179 in special schools, and 408 in night schools, totaling 20,448.

A total of 15,227 have enrolled in negro schools for the year, according to the report, with 3,257 in night schools, or a total of 18,484. November attendance figures show 14,452 students actually in attendance in all negro schools, exclusive of night schools, with 2,094 attending those classes, making a total of 17,146.

Amendments Deferred. Action on two constitutional amendments, proposed by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, was deferred until the next meeting of the board. One of the amendments sets the minimum age at which children may enter kindergarten at 5 years, while the other would give teachers who resign or are granted leaves of absence the privilege of returning to the school during the summer months.

The first amendment would allow children whose fifth birthday is within three weeks after the opening of the term to be admitted to kindergarten on recommendation of their principal and teacher, and provides that if more children enter kindergarten than can be accommodated, the amendment provides that those nearest the age of six years shall be given preference, with the youngest admitted last.

Station WBDE, radio broadcasting station of Ludden & Bates Southern Music store, made its debut to radio fans Tuesday night in an hour's broadcast which brought scores of congratulations from listeners in Atlanta and adjoining sections, according to S. M. F

Omaha, Neb., December 9.—Telegraph and telephone communication was still partially disrupted throughout Nebraska today while the coldest wave of the season held sway. According to the weather bureau in Omaha, the mercury ranged from 2 degrees below at North Platte to 8 above in Omaha.

The heavily ice-encrusted wires caused demoralization of approximately 75 per cent of the toll lines of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, throughout Nebraska, officials said.

Norfolk, Va., December 9.—Lieutenant Commander H. H. Ritter, commander of the naval collier Jason, and Mary Miles Ritter, stage and screen star, principals in a romance that has kept naval circles here agog with rumors of their engagement and marriage, both left Norfolk today without having thrown any light on the matter.

A few hours after she had waved goodbye to the officer as his ship pulled out on route to Guantanamo, Miss Ritter boarded the steamer City of Norfolk for Baltimore, saying she would return when the ship gets back here. During her stay here, Miss Ritter refused to deny or confirm the reports of her engagement or marriage to Commander Ritter, as did the officer.

Cold Feet Cause Midget To Leave Footlight Glare

BY KENNETH L. EAGON.

After crying out loud in copious tears worth ten thousand iron gentlemen, Paul Remos, Teutonic showman, whose anatomy is as voluminous as his emotions, made peace with the world, himself and one of his performers Tuesday night by laying out enough to buy one foot-warmer which, Paul is sure, will chase the chilblains from his diminutive meat ticket's toes and keep the troupe out of a legal war with America. It's a story of ten chilly toes and a run-away midget in four acts. Orchestra! Lights!

Paul stands in the wings of a local vaudeville theater, smoking four dollars' worth of cigar and beaming on his prodigies who are throwing a packed house into hysteria with their circus. Paul had to post a $10,000 bond with Uncle Sam to the effect that Istvan Hija, recalcitrant midget extraordinary, would be returned to Bavaria immediately following a tour of American theaters. But, ah! A flock of ahs! All was well. Little Istvan was doing his stuff and Bavaria should be proud. This was Monday night.

(Same place, Tuesday night.) Paul stands in the same wings, clapping his high-price cheer to shreds and wearing a nine-buck frown. Two of the midgets are cowering for the public, but Istvan is conspicuous by his absence. He has went, and where he went, no one knew. Visions of ten thousand national ducks and a jam with Uncle Sam worried Paul. The curtain went down on a lot of gloom.

Commotion at stage door. One of Atlanta's finest enters, carrying him the struggling Istvan. None other, Istvan, the runaway, was back home again in Georgia. Paul jumped up to where they kept the stage snow and bounced back into the manager's office with joy. He kissed Istvan and the little fellow's cup was crammed full.

Reconciliation. A troupe-full of joy. Little Istvan spilled the amy-frood. His feet were cold. Not literally, he said, but really! Night after night he tried to nail Mother's between the two other midgets. They had feet that would make an Eskimo start a bonfire. They used poor, pickled-on Istvan's back for comfort and slept in bliss. Paul got a big idea. "Hold that baby," he piped. He was back in ten minutes with a foot-warmer. Istvan clutched it and laughed out loud. "And that ain't all," added the cash-in Paul. "You don't have to sleep in the middle any more. Boy, I'll buy you a whole bed!"

REPORT OF MILK EXPORT EXPECTED TO BE MADE SOON

Recommendations to be made Monday to city council by the Atlanta milk commission, acting after consideration of a report of Leslie C. Frank, government milk sanitation expert, probably will be completed at a meeting to be held Saturday. It was announced by T. G. Chastain, chairman.

The announcement followed an executive session of the commission Tuesday within a week at which reports of Mr. Frank's investigations of milk conditions in Atlanta were discussed. All meetings will be in executive session and members of the commission have agreed to withhold any comment until decisions have been completed. It is said.

Mr. Frank's report recommends that all milk delivered in Atlanta 12 months after date of passage of such an ordinance be pasteurized. Under his proposal, all milk would be graded at the highest grade to contain less than a 50,000 bacterial count. As an alternative he recommends that all milk delivered in the city 12 months after date of passage of such an ordinance be pasteurized, with the exception of certified milk, which is recognized as the best and safest quality of raw milk.

CRUELTY IS CHARGED TO NEGRO EDUCATOR

Rev. Richard D. Stinson, 52, negro, principal of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial institute at 348 Griffin street, was bound over under $500 bond on charges of cruelty to children by Recorder Pro Tem Murphy Holway in police court Tuesday night. James Bowden, chairman of the board of deacons of the Western Heights Baptist church, and Rev. W. M. Albert, pastor, were principal witnesses against the defendant.

Stinson denied the charges and said that they were made as the result of misinformation. He said he wished the court to make a thorough investigation of his record and of conditions at the school.

Stinson was arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct, but when the case opened, they were changed.
